INSULL MUST GO; GREEK TRIBUNAL REJECTS APPEAL

Chicago Fugitive's Case Involves Foreign Policy, So Sojourn in Country Is Governmental Matter.

HIS POLICE PERMIT EXPIRES ON JAN. 31

Not Many Places He Can Go to and Be Safe From Extradition—Rumor Says He May Try Persia.

By the Associated Press. ATHENS, Jan. 24.—The State Council, highest court in Greece, announced its decision today to reject the appeal of Samuel Insull, Sr., fugitive former utilities magnate of Chicago, from the Government's order to leave the country on or before his visitor's permit expires Jan. 31. The council ruled that Insull must go.

The announcement freely translated reads: "The State Council rejects the appeal of Samuel Insull against the decision of the Minister of the Interior and orders Insull to pay the costs of these proceedings. 'Inasmuch as the granting or refusal to foreigners of sojourn in Greece by the Minister of the Interior is assured by law No. 4310, it is an administrative measure which the Council is not competent to handle. 'The Minister of the Interior under the law, has complete right to refuse or grant a stay to any foreigner in Greece. 'In the present case, the ground of the Minister's refusal apparently was a desire to maintain the existing good relations between the United States and Greece. 'Hence the case is a governmental matter, not coming under the jurisdiction of the Council of State. 'Insull appealed after the Minister of the Interior refused to extend his residence permit and so enable him to continue extradition to the United States. 'Twice before, Greek courts had held in Insull's favor in cases through which the United States sought to have Greece deliver him as a prisoner to its agents to be returned to Chicago to face charges of larceny, embezzlement and violation of bankruptcy laws. During the various court actions Insull has been living in a richly furnished hotel suite under care of doctors who have said and continued to say he was very ill of heart disease. Yesterday the secretary of the Minister of the Interior said this illness, if serious enough, might serve to postpone Insull's expulsion, but that any delay on this ground would be only temporary. One authority was quoted as saying Insull would be expelled even if he had to be carried out of Greece on a stretcher. There are various places that Insull can go to and be safe from American demands for extradition. There have been many rumors of his intentions, the latest and most general one being that he will go to Persia.

GERMAN WOMAN SPY CHIEF GETS THREE YEARS IN FRANCE Five Men Convicted of Taking Orders From Her Also Receive Prison Terms.

By the Associated Press. STRASBOURG, France, Jan. 24.—Sophie Drotz of Germany, woman spy chief, went to prison today for three years. 'La Belle Sophie,' as she is known here, was given two terms; two years for espionage and one year for complicity in stealing a new model French machine gun. Five men convicted of taking orders from Miss Drotz were sent to prison for terms ranging from one to five years. The woman spy chief was arrested last October in a night automobile drive toward the mandated Saar area. Her companion, a French soldier, was charged with the actual theft of the machine gun found in the car.

25,000 DEAD IN ONE DISTRICT IN EARTHQUAKE IN INDIA

Rajah of Monghyr Reports on Heavy Loss Caused in His Territory by Jan. 15 Disaster.

By the Associated Press. CALCUTTA, Jan. 24.—The Rajah of Monghyr said today that 25,000 persons were killed in Monghyr district alone in the earthquake which shook all of India on Jan. 15. It will be weeks, he added, before all bodies can be removed from the ruins. He predicted two generations would pass before the devastated areas could be rehabilitated. (The district of Monghyr is in Northeastern India in the Bhagalpur division of Bihar and Orissa. It has an area of 3927 square miles and is divided by the River Ganges.) An engineer was quoted as having declared after a survey that the names of both Monghyr and Muzaffarpur might as well be erased from the map. Authorities generally appear anxious to conceal the true proportions of the disaster, but nothing can hide the fact that it is India's worst calamity in generations. Thousands who escaped with their lives have been utterly ruined—their homes destroyed and lands damaged. The general administration in Bihar province is at a standstill due to damage to Government buildings. Damage is estimated in one town alone at $1,250,000. Bihar now is a province of tents, with thousands of homeless people. Relief measures, however, are reported to be adequate. The public has responded generously to calls for help. In Nepal provinces two daughters of the sovereign and a granddaughter of the Prime Minister were killed, it was reported, when a part of the palace collapsed.

ROCK ISLAND TO TAKE NEW ROUTE INTO CITY

Passenger Trains to Use Terminal Railroad Instead of Wabash Tracks.

Rock Island Railroad passenger trains will quit using the Wabash Railway tracks east of De Baliviere avenue and will enter and leave the city over the Terminal Railroad North Side line, under an Interstate Commerce Commission order announced at Washington today. The order, sought by the Rock Island last October, will be effective Feb. 15. Officers of the road plan to make the change as soon after that date as possible. The Rock Island joins the Terminal near Lackland Station, south of Page avenue and west of Woodson road, St. Louis County. This line of the Terminal traverses the city north of Natural Bridge avenue and along the river front. Through freight trains of the Rock Island have been routed into the city over the Terminal for years. Move to Reduce Expense. Rock Island passenger trains now follow that road's own track from Lackland through Oliveette, Clayton and University streets to De Baliviere. Between De Baliviere and Grand boulevard, where both roads enter the Terminal yards, the Rock Island rents the Wabash tracks. A principal reason for abandonment of this route is the desire of the Rock Island trustees to reduce the expense of entering St. Louis. The Rock Island pays the Wabash $30,000 a year plus a share of the maintenance expense amounting to about $3000 annually. It expects the charge for use of the Terminal route will be considerably less. The Rock Island is one of the proprietary lines of the Terminal Association, which charges members on a user basis. Local freight service is given on the Rock Island between Lackland and De Baliviere. Directors of the road have given blanket authority to apply for abandonment of this track, if desired, but the application has not been filed. A study is being made by Rock Island executives to determine whether the comparatively little freight is carried there, and they are inclined to think abandonment will be proposed. Washington University receives coal for its power house over this track. A university representative has told city officials it would prefer establishment of a street where the track is.

Plan for Boulevard. The St. Louis County Plan Association has considered a plan to convert the Rock Island roadbed into a boulevard between De Baliviere and Page avenue. University City is especially interested in this for a needed traffic outlet and has had a CWA crew surveying the right-of-way. The administration of that suburb is pushing the plan. President Brown of the Board of Public Service will discuss the plan with University City officials. He said abandonment of the Rock Island track would decrease cost of the proposed viaduct over the Wabash at De Baliviere. Rock Island officers say they would sell the right-of-way to which they hold title. Part of the right-of-way would revert to abutting land owners.

Abandonment of the Rock Island track would abolish dangerous grade crossings at Skinker, Big Bend and Forsythe boulevards, Maryland avenue and Ladue road.

RACKET LEADER SLAIN BY GUNMEN IN CHICAGO HOUSE

White Found Dead After Neighbors Hear Shots, See Two Men Flee.

ROOM IN DISORDER INDICATING FIGHT

Ex-Convict Attempted to Put Levy on Every Truck in City—Tried Twice for Murder.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—William (Three-Fingered Jack) White, 44-year-old ex-convict, killer and labor racketeer, was killed in a suburban Oak Park apartment last night. His body, partly unclothed, was found after tenants of the building heard a series of rapid shots and saw two men flee from the building, jump into a waiting automobile and drive away. Two glass bookcase doors were smashed and from bottles and glasses found on the premises it was evident that White and his visitors had been drinking before he was shot. Early today two women, one of whom identified herself to police as White's wife, and a man were taken into custody when they drove up to the apartment in an automobile. All denied knowing anything of the killing until informed by the crowd that had gathered in front of the building. White's Other Name. Mrs. White explained the name "H. J. Cerny," under which the apartment was leased, when she told the police that it was the name White used. She said her first name was Nancy, and that until her marriage last fall she had been a cabaret entertainer. The apartment was under their names as Miss Dinah Anderson, 29, of Sterling, Ill., who said she had been visiting the Whites, and James Kelly, 23, a brother of the widow. Kelly said he was an unemployed stage dancer and comedian and had been living with his sister and her husband recently. White's record with the police department started in 1924 when he was sentenced to the Joliet prison and served a four-year term as a robber. In 1925 White was accused of the killing of Policeman, Edward Pfau of River Forest. He was arrested, but never brought to trial, for participation in the $30,000 robbery of the International Harvester Co. Twice Convicted of Murder. The State twice convicted White of the murder of the policeman, but each time the Illinois Supreme Court reversed the decision, and finally when he was brought to trial for the third time the charges were dropped. White never brought to trial, for participation in the $30,000 robbery of the International Harvester Co. After the departure of Al Capone to Atlanta Federal penitentiary to serve a term for income tax evasion police officers White and Murray Humphreys, who then became "Public Enemy" No. 1, joined company and formed "The Trucking and Transportation Exchange." On his inspection of the prison hospitals, Commissioner MacCormick subjected all inmates to immediate medical examination. As a result, 44 of the 50 prisoners in the administration hospital were returned at once to their cells, and 20 of the 42 prisoners in the dormitory hospital treated similarly.

ENDS GANGSTER RULE IN NEW YORK PRISON

Commissioner Attacked by Convicts Fires Warden and Puts Deputy Under Arrest.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—A shower of missiles from cell tiers and jeers from prisoners in Welfare Island Penitentiary greeted Austin H. MacCormick, new Commissioner of Corrections, on his first inspection of "the worst prison in the world" today. MacCormick, former United States Prison Bureau official and regarded as one of the best versed penal and prison experts in the country, personally uncovered narcotics, knives and razors and evidence of favoritism and "gangster rule." Commissioner MacCormick promptly relieved Warden Joseph A. McCann of his duties, and placed under "military arrest" Daniel Feenhan, Deputy Warden. MacCormick said he was convinced the penitentiary had virtually been administered by a convulsion of prisoners. Trouble appeared to be impending when MacCormick and a small detail of police began a search of the cell blocks in the "A" wing, central corridor of the main wing, which houses prisoners ranging from gangsters and killers to narcotic addicts. As the party progressed down the corridor, missiles were thrown by howling prisoners. Bits of metal and personal belongings of the prisoners narrowly missed the commissioner, and a milk bottle broke over the floor beside him. The result of the inspection was made under the overhanging tier walks. The capacity of the famous prison is 1368 prisoners, but it houses 1658 at present. On his inspection of the prison hospitals, Commissioner MacCormick subjected all inmates to immediate medical examination. As a result, 44 of the 50 prisoners in the administration hospital were returned at once to their cells, and 20 of the 42 prisoners in the dormitory hospital treated similarly.

REALTY MAN READY TO PLEAD GUILTY

Attorney Says Client 'Will Take His Medicine' if Substantiated Charges Are Brought.

A deficit of $351,318, with only negligible assets, is all that is left of the 50-year-old South Side real estate and insurance concerns headed by Raymond J. Tombridge, who is prepared to plead guilty to any substantiated criminal charges that may be brought by the Circuit Attorney's office.

Involved in the collapse of the Tombridge Agency and its defunct subsidiary, the Helena Realty Co., organized to finance the two-story building at 3318 Marquette street, where the agency has a small office, are about 350 clients, some of whom have lost their life savings. Many of them, men and women, are distressed shabbily, at a final creditors' meeting last night, received with tears and ironic exclamations the information that losses of the Tombridge Agency totaled $242,428. Holders of more than $400,000 in mortgage bonds of the Helena Co. will meet next week, confronted by an appraisal that places the value of the property today at only $20,000—contrasted with an $80,000 valuation on the books of the company.

Ready to Plead Guilty. The upshot of the meeting was that the real estate division of the agency were turned over to the Rengel Weber Realty Co., 3339 South Grand boulevard, which will endeavor to collect accounts listed on the books, totaling $15,000, but regarded by the creditors' committee as largely uncollectible. Rodowe H. Abeken, attorney for both Tombridge and the creditors, said today creditors would be asked to collect $1000 of the $15,000. "In his zeal to protect his clients and stabilize his business, Tombridge undoubtedly committed indiscretions," Abeken said, "and is prepared to plead guilty and take his medicine."

Tombridge, who is at liberty under $5000 bond, returnable Jan. 20 in Judge Dickmann's division of the Court of Criminal Correction, told a Post-Dispatch reporter prior to his surrender to police Monday he was penniless. Creditors' Experience. Participants at last night's meeting included holders of mortgages on his residence at 825 Wilmington avenue as well as many who had given him deeds of trust to sell, with nothing to show for it now but receipts. George Mueller, 5301 Itasca street, who said he lost $3000, told of a deed of trust which was sold three times, with the clients holding only receipts. Two of those who bought it gathered about Mueller and exhibited their receipts but nobody knew where the deed was now. Similar stories were told by others while the terse figures of the auditor's report exemplified the examples previously printed in the Post-Dispatch of property encumbered in many instances by mortgages involving more than twice its value. The total difference between book values and appraisals was announced at $22,265, more than wiping out the agency's equity.

Faced with the collapse of value of 30 pieces of property held by the agency, the committee, which concluded its work last night with the thanks of the creditors, recommended that in order to save foreclosure expenses all holders of first deeds of trust, whose deeds exceed by 30 per cent appraised value of the property, receive a quitclaim deed. Foreclosure is suggested where property is encumbered by both first and second deeds. Dealing with reports involving

By the Associated Press. PARIS, Jan. 24.—Fighting broke out in the halls of the Palace of Justice today when Royalists, carrying their week-long demonstrations indoors, invaded the famous courthouse shouting "down with the Chautemps government!" Street fighting in the vicinity of the Chamber of Deputies continued far into the night while the Chamber indomitable Frontiers Camille Chautemps' protests against a campaign of mud-slinging in the Slavsky bank scandal. Five thousand Communists fought the police on the Boulevard Montparnasse and eight manifestos were taken to hospitals. Royalist elements laid waste streets in the aristocratic Faubourg St. Germaine district and extended their operations to the Latin quarter. On the Boulevard St. Michael rioters demolished news and florists' stands, drenched them with gasoline and set them afire.

JURIST DECLARES AGAINST NAMING OF REFEREE

Green Thinks Judges Should Handle Work Without That Extra Cost to Litigants. Circuit Judge Green today expressed disapproval of the appointment of referees to try lawsuits pending in court. He said the Judges were on the bench to do that work and he did not intend to delegate it to some one else if it could be avoided. The matter was under discussion as a result of a suggestion by an attorney that a referee might be necessary in a mechanic's lien case pending before Judge Green. The attorney said the case involved many items of building costs and other figures, which would require too much of the court's time. Judge Green said he was willing to give sufficient time to the matter, explaining that to name a referee meant additional costs to litigants. They are required to pay as part of the costs the fees of the referee.

BORAH CALLS FOR SOME INFORMATION

Administration Has No Objection to Time Limit in Legislation but Opposes Board to Handle Stabilizing Fund.

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Speaking in opposition to the administration's gold devaluation bill in the Senate today, Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, a former Secretary of the Treasury, opposed the "seizure" of the Federal Reserve Bank gold by the Treasury Department, declaring that it should remain in the possession of the Reserve banks, where it would increase their ability to respond to the requirements of business, industry and agriculture. In response to a question by Senator King of Utah, the Virginian refused to give the Senate his candid opinion of the administration bill. "I am such a temperate man," he said, "that I cannot adequately express my opinion of this bill. I would rather refrain from giving it."

Elaborating his thesis that the gold properly belonged to the Federal Reserve Banks, Glass declared that no good purpose could be served by the Treasury Department taking over the monetary gold supply of the nation. "The Miscalculation of Profit." "I want the miscalculation of profit from devaluation, as well as the gold principal, in the hands of the Federal Reserve Banks," he shouted. "Why, because it would twice over again enable the Federal Reserve Banks—if we are going into this devaluation business—more readily and at a lower interest charge to reduce to the requirements of business. "Is any of this gold 'profit' going to be used by the Treasury to start its printing presses? It is not needed for that purpose. If you are going to start a printing press, why not just start it by itself? What is the use of having any gold behind the currency just issued, when the currency is irredeemable in gold, and when, if anyone is found with a gold certificate on his person, he will be sent to jail?" "The Federal Reserve Banks are not to be regarded as institutions with hoofs and horns," he continued. "I call the attention of the Senate to the fact that over the period of more than 20 years of their existence the discount rate in this country has materially been reduced, and sometimes the prevalent discount rate was so low as to make it absolutely ridiculous. For a period of time after the frightful crash in 1929 the discount rate went down at the New York bank to one per cent, and many practical bankers and experienced economists contend to this day that it was largely because of the low rate that the country was able to weather the storm. "Now am I going to waste any time," he continued, "in protesting any further against the appropriation by the Government of the United States of nearly $4,000,000,000 of gold, not one dollar of which Bars on Imports of Lumber, Pulpwood and Matches Also Lifted.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Secretary Morgenthau today opened Federal mints to Soviet Russian gold. It was one of three important orders affecting trade with newly recognized Russia. The other two lifted prohibition against Russian lumber and pulp wood because of convict labor production and against Russian matches because of dumping. Regarding gold, Morgenthau said: "A letter to the director of the mint rescinds instructions contained in Treasury Department letters of Nov. 26 and Dec. 23, 1920, and advises the director of the mint that gold of Soviet origin may now be received by the mints upon the same basis as gold received from other nations."

$10,000,000 IN U. S. TAXES FIRST MONTH OF LEGAL LIQUOR

$8,851,000 Collected on Production of Distilled Spirits in December.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The first month of legal liquor paid the Government more than $10,000,000 in taxes. Figures just compiled by the Internal Revenue Bureau for December showed $8,851,000 collected on the production of distilled spirits, $1,257,000 on rectification, $1,038,000 on wines and cordials and $322,000 in permit taxes. December beer collections were $12,867,000. The beer, together with liquor, which became legal Dec. 5, including a few small taxes incidental to the production of both, paid the Government $24,428,000 in December as compared with $3,700,000 in December, 1922. Liquor and beer revenues for the first half of the 1934 fiscal year, were $98,414,000 as compared with $3,597,000 in the corresponding 1923 period.

On Devaluation Feature.

Glass said that he did not intend to make an extended contest over the devaluation feature of the bill as he recognized that devaluation already was an accomplished fact. "Now am I going to waste any time," he continued, "in protesting any further against the appropriation by the Government of the United States of nearly $4,000,000,000 of gold, not one dollar of which

GAVE HIS PERMISSION

Woman on Trial Tells of Formal Conversation Before Stabbing

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24. — Mrs. Millie Prince, on trial for murder, avers that in killing Charles J. Wolfert she had the special permission of Wolfert himself.

He took a card from his pocket, "He testified yesterday at her trial," "and asked me how to spell 'deserve.' I told him. Then he wrote on the card and handed it to me. He said: 'Listen: Mrs. Prince, you can kill me. I deserve it.'"

He was dead a few minutes later.

In his body were 19 stab wounds from a knife Mrs. Prince carried along in her handbag and which her husband had bought for her as a souvenir of their trip to Miami.

Mrs. Prince, 31 years old after 10 years of marriage, was given a considerable detail of the conversation that led to the slaying of a 56-year-old admiral. He had "pursued" her for five years, she testified, with avowals of love.

Q On Sept. 6 last, she said, he confronted her on the street and compelled her to go to a wooded place not far away. She obeyed his command in the belief that his concealed right hand gripped a pistol.

A A strange feature of the conversation that took place just before Wolfert's death was that, despite its tragic portent, it was carried on (according to Mrs. Prince's testimony) most formally. She was "Mrs. Prince" and he was "Mr. Wolfert."

Parts of her testimony were:

"He said, 'Mrs. Prince, I'll kill you,' and I said: 'Mr. Wolfert, how could you do so cruel?' He then grabbed me and kissed me and I said: 'Get away, you rat. Your kisses are poison.'"

"He picked up a rock and said: 'I could smash your brains out, Mrs. Prince, with this rock.' I said: 'If I had any brains I wouldn't be here.'"

She said Wolfert "grabbed me and threw me around, and that he then wrote the 'permission' to kill" card. As she opened her handbag to put the card away she saw the knife and drew out.

"The knife won't stop me," she testified Wolfert said as he grabbed her.

Two hours later she walked into a police station, tossed the knife on the Sergeant's desk and announced she had just killed a man.

RULES FOR COMPLAINTS
UNDER NRA ADOPTED

Purpose Is to Speed Action—Right of Appeal From Code Authorities.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—New rules designed to expedite the handling of complaints under NRA were promulgated by the Recovery Administration yesterday.

The question of protecting the public from excessive price increases was discussed by President Roosevelt yesterday with his recovery council.

The rules provide three ways for expediting action on complaints.
The manual declares that where a code authority or other industrial agency has been authorized to handle complaints, the party making them can insist on an independent NRA review in Washington or by the State Director.

If the complainant charges the code authority with being hostile or monopolistically dominated, the complaint will not be referred to the code authority.

Whenever a code authority fails to satisfy a complainant he has a right to demand a personal hearing before it, and falling satisfaction to appeal.

Administrator Hugh S. Johnson
told reporters he was having a study made of all overlapping between codes, a list of code provisions found desirable, and another of provisions that have proved too unsatisfactory for continuance.

These, with surveys of re-employment needs and opportunities, will form the basis for revision program.

The separate handling of labor complaints through regional and national labor boards will continue unchanged.

Instructions were issued to all compliance officers that the names of complainants must be treated as confidential in order to protect both parties involved.

Filed in Court.

The will of Adolph Lopez, who died Jan. 17 in Tucson, Ariz., was filed yesterday in Probate Court, setting up a $20,000 trust fund for his housekeeper, Mrs. Margaret Ra-therefrom during her life. She is given the privilege of disposing of the principal by will.

The rest of the estate, which is made up largely of real estate, is willed to former Gov. Henry S.
Caulfield, whose first wife was a sister of Lopez. Caulfield is named executor of the will.

Lopez, 75 years old, a retired merchant, lived at 3748 W. Avenue place until he went several months ago. He formerly headed

when she heard one of two robbers say "Stick 'em up!" to Henry Garthoffner, clerk. Although she could not see the holdup men, Mrs. Havemman ran toward the back door, calling for aid. The robbers heard her and fled without loot.

George Ketterer, attendant at a gasoline station at 3859 California avenue, was forced to lie on the floor when two men, one with a re-

Victor Mandeville, attendant at a station at Washington boulevard
and Fenelon avenue, was robbed

TWO HAT UNIONS ARE MERGED

About 55,000 Workers in Head-wear Industry Are Affected.

The Cloth Hat, Cap and Millinery Workers' International Union and the United Hatters of North America have merged as the United Hatters, Cap and Millinery Workers' International Union. It was announced yesterday by George Baer, local organizer for the cap
and millinery union.

About 55,000 workers in the nation's headwear industry are affected by the amalgamation. The new union will operate two departments, one having jurisdiction over members manufacturing women's hats and the other over workers in the men's hat industry. Executive offices of the new union are located in New York City.

BUS LINE'S PERMIT REVOKED

Missouri Board Bars Midland Stages From State.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 24.—
The State Public Service Commission today revoked the interstate permit of the Midland Stages, a bus company, operating on United States Highway No. 50, between East St. Louis, Ill., and Kansas City, Kan. The order is effective in 10 days.

Revocation of the permit was ordered after the Missouri Pacific Transportation Co., operating along the same highway between St.
Louis and Kansas City, Mo., had filed a complaint Oct. 25, in which it contended the Midland company was "carrying passengers in intrastate commerce."

MRS. BLACKLIDGE SPIED ON POLICEMAN'S WIFE

Defendant "Knew" She Was Being Watched So She Turned Tables.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blackledge returned to the witness stand today to tell of spying on Mrs. Susanne Nottingham who is suing her for $100,000 for alienation of affections.

Mrs. Blackledge testified, "she was watching me, so I did some spying for myself. I saw her come up in the car with one or two people and sometimes more."

On one occasion, the defendant related, she saw Mrs. Nottingham seated in a parked automobile with a man.

"She had her arms around him, and he had his about her," said Mrs. Blackledge.

In defense of the alienation charge, Mrs. Blackledge contended that she could not steal a love that did not exist between husband and wife. She intended to show by her testimony that Mrs. Nottingham had also been keeping company with others than her husband, Mrs. Nottingham, however, denied this.

Policeman Norman Nottingham, summoned as a witness for Mrs. Blackledge, was barred from testifying against his wife.

Mrs. Blackledge on the stand yesterday referred to her letters to him as a "lot of mush."

Previously Mrs. Nottingham described from the stand sleuthing expeditions in which she said she once saw Norman in pajamas and Mrs. Blackledge in "something light; it was pink" in living rooms at the rear of Mrs. Blackledge's dress shop.

On another occasion, the wife testified, she peeped into Mrs. Blackledge's apartment and saw the lights go out in all the rooms. Her husband, she said, and the defendant were only partly clad.

As the defendant took the stand, her attorney brought out that she was the niece of former Gov. Richard Tanner of Illinois; that her husband died on April 8, 1930, and that 13 days later her only son died.

"Genuine Friendship," Mrs. Blackledge said, "Did you ever advise him (Nottingham) to go back to his wife?" she asked the former Collector of Internal Revenue here.

"And your relationship with him was purely friendship?"

"Genuine friendship. I helped him and he later helped me," Mrs. Blackledge said.

Mrs. Nottingham's lawyer asked the defendant about letters she had admitted writing the policeman.

From one he read: "Denny, we will have to get free from all this. I told Ruby (her sister) I would marry you tomorrow if I could. You're still pretty keen about him, aren't you?"

"You say that. I didn't say so."

"But you made love to him?" "If you call that love, a lot of mush that means nothing after it gets cold. That was two years ago."

She said the tram through which Mrs. Nottingham allegedly peeked was 25 feet from the floor and she asserted Mrs. Nottingham could not have seen if all the lights in the apartment were extinguished as one room had no outside window.

FORISTEL TELLS OF ATTEMPT TO GET $50 FROM HIM

Crops Payment on Check for Membership in Non-Resident Organization of Newspaper Men.

Edward W. Foristel, attorney, announced today that he had stopped payment on a check for $50, made out by him yesterday for what purported to be an associate membership in an organization of newspaper men.

He said he was called on the telephone during the afternoon by a man who represented himself falsely as a political writer on a St. Louis newspaper. The caller solicited the "membership," Foristel said, and said he would send a man at once for Foristel's check.

Half an hour later a man called, got the check and left at the office a card purporting to represent a certificate of membership in the "State Press Club," St. Louis newspaper men have not been engaged in the formation of such an organization.

BONDSMAN ADMITS PERJURY; TO BE SENTENCED FEB. 13

Theodore Ehrhardt, Belleville, Listed Property That Had Been Transferred to Daughter.

Theodore Ehrhardt of Belleville, signer of bail bonds for Federal prisoners, pleaded guilty today at East St. Louis of perjury in affidavits by which he qualified as a bondsman. Sentence was deferred by Federal Judge Wham until Feb. 13.

Ehrhardt, 52 years old, was charged with listing in affidavits real estate he did not own. He was indicted after he testified last fall, in a bankruptcy hearing, that the real estate had been transferred to his daughter, Miss Lillian Ehrhardt of St. Louis, before he signed the bonds.

The property, consisting of two residences, has been transferred again to Ehrhardt's estate. One house is that in which he lives at 820 West Main street, Belleville.

LUPE VELEZ

WE FIGHT, SO LUPE VELEZ AND WEISSMULLER SEPARATE

"I Guess It's Hollywood," Actress Says, Adding That Trouble Is "Fifty-Fifty."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 24.—Lupe Velez, Mexican movie actress, and her husband, Johnny Weissmuller, actor-swimmer, have separated, Miss Velez announced today.

"I guess it's Hollywood. It's no use. We fight. We fight. We fight," she said. "It's fifty-fifty. I don't put the blame on him. I don't put the blame on myself. We just can't get along together."

She said that Weissmuller was leaving her home in Beverly Hills today. They were married secretly at Las Vegas, Nev., Oct. 8.

CASUALTY FIRM HEAD HELD IN CONVERSION OF $198,000

By the Associated Press.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Jan. 24.—Clarence Love, president of the Penn General Casualty Co. of Philadelphia, was placed under arrest by Prosecutor George F. Losche today and charged with conversion of $198,000 of his company's funds.

Losche said the charge grew out of an alleged illegal stock transfer in which Love was involved.

Love was picked up at his Englewood home and taken to the prosecutor's office this morning. After several hours of questioning, he was placed under arrest.

"Did you ever advise him (Nottingham) to go back to his wife?" she asked the former Collector of Internal Revenue here.

"And your relationship with him was purely friendship?"

"Genuine friendship. I helped him and he later helped me," Mrs. Blackledge said.

Mrs. Nottingham's lawyer asked the defendant about letters she had admitted writing the policeman.

HOME MODERNIZATION PLANS

President Considers Federal Aid at White House Parley.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—President Roosevelt yesterday devoted an afternoon to conferences on means of stimulating modernization of homes and of assuring increased protection to consumers from excessive price raising.

He received from J. H. Fahey, chairman of the Home Loan Board, preliminary plans for making more money available for modernization of homes. Treasury budget and home board officials attended the conference at which it was stated that a considerable demand existed for money to rehabilitate homes. Fahey said the Home Loan Board was unable to meet this demand and legislation to extend its authority was under consideration.

TWO LIQUOR CARLOADS SEIZED BY U. S. AGENTS

Untaxed Goods Traced From New York, Confiscated
at Galesburg, Ill.

Two carloads of alcohol, whiskey and beer were seized near Galesburg, Ill., yesterday by Department of Justice agents of St. Louis, acting on information that Federal taxes had not been paid on the shipment, consigned to two fictitious paint companies.

The confiscated shipment included 4300 gallons of alcohol thought to have been smuggled in from Bermuda, 69 cases of whiskey and 470 cases of a beer made in Michigan. Ralph E. Herrick, investigator in charge of the Alcohol Beverage Unit of the Department of Justice here, estimated the market value of the shipment was more than $20,000.

No arrests have been made, pending further investigation. Alcohol imported from Bermuda would be subject to a import duty of $5 a gallon, and the whiskey, if domestic, would be subject to a Federal tax of $2 a gallon.

Information which led to the seizure was obtained by Federal agents in New York. The two cars in which the shipment was transported were traced along the route. They came into Chicago on a road other than that specified in the original routing, doubled back at Chilliote to Streator, and there were unloaded into four trucks.

Federal agents were on hand to observe each of these maneuvers. They followed the trucks to Galesburg, and waited until the shipment was unloaded into a barn before they made their presence known.

The whiskey included 43 cases of Log Cabin brand, 11 cases of Golden Wedding, and 10 of Huntley rye. The beer was the Delta brand, made at Escanaba, Mich.

SAYS COLOR PHOTO PROVES PAINTING IS BY DA VINCI

Professor Claims to Have Settled Dispute Over "La Belle Feronniere."

RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 24.—By "filtered" color photography revealing unnoticed inscriptions on masterpieces of painting, Prof. Jehu D. Paulson of North Carolina State College says he has settled the dispute whether Leonardo Da Vinci painted the famous "La Belle Feronniere."

It is Da Vinci's work, says Prof. Paulson, and is furthermore a portrait of Duchess Isabella D'Este, wife of the Marquis of Mantua. The family names are transposed, he says, and is interchanged for the more common s in Gansago. The other inscription is "Isabella-Duchessa-S-E-Mant." This Paulson takes to mean:

"Isabella, Duchess, Consorta Sue

Excellence Mantua.

In the lowest part of the hand rail Paulson finds the date 1497 in Roman numerals, and a signature device of Da Vinci.

This painting was the basis of a suit in New York several years ago against an art expert, in which the authenticity of the original in the Louvre was challenged.

Paulson never has seen the original. He calls it a "perfectly registered photographic reproduction" of the Louvre canvas. This is a photograph in colors, with every detail on the original faithfully reproduced.

GOV. PARK TO SPEAK TOMORROW ON ST. LOUIS ANNIVERSARY

To Address Chamber of Commerce Dinner in Honor of City's 170th Birthday.

Gov. Park has accepted an invitation to speak at the annual dinner meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to be held tomorrow night at Hotel Jefferson.

Other State officials who are to attend include Secretary of State Brown, State Auditor Smith, W. Scott Wilson, chairman of the Highway Commission; T. H. Cutler, chief engineer, and Carl W. Brown, assistant chief engineer of the Highway Department. Three State Senators from St. Louis, Nolte, Doran and Depelheuer, will be present.

Mayor Dickmann is another speaker. The program, commemorating the 170th anniversary of the founding of St. Louis and the 125th anniversary of its incorporation, will include a review of the chamber's activities last year and an outline of its program for 1934.

DON'T NEGLECT COLDS

MUSTEROLE soothes, warming Musterole is NOT just a salve. It's a "soother-irritant" containing good old-fashioned cold remedies—oil of mustard, menthol, camphor and other valuable ingredients.

That's why it gets such fine results—eases in 5 minutes, and relieves in 6 hours, as a rule. It penetrates, stimulates, warms and soothes the congested parts, drawing out the pain and infection. Used by millions for 25 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists.

In three strengths: Regular Strength, Children's (mild), and Extra Strong.

LIBERALIZED DIVORCE CANON GAINS SUPPORT

Missouri Episcopal Diocesan Convention Backs the View of Bishop Scarlett.

Supporting Bishop Scarlett's church-wide campaign to liberalize divorce canons of the Protestant Episcopal Church, the diocesan convention last night adopted a resolution which would render obsolete the present regulation and permit a Bishop of a marital court to determine whether a remarriage should be permitted.

The present canon permits the remarriage only of the innocent party in a divorce action on the grounds of infidelity. As a member of the Divorce Commission of the church for six years, Bishop Scarlett led a fight at the last General Convention in 1931 to create a new canon. It would permit each diocese to let its Bishop pass on the remarriage of divorced persons or would set up a diocesan marital court.

Action of the diocesan convention, which adjourned today at Bishop Tuttle Memorial, will constitute a portion of the representations which Bishop Scarlett will make next October when the General Convention assembles again. The Missouri diocese passed the divorce resolution unanimously.

Transfer of Bishops Approved. The convention, attended by about 100 delegates from 60 parishes throughout the State, adopted another major resolution approving a method of transferring Bishops, superseding the present practice of the Bishop of a diocese remaining in that diocese for life.

Under the proposed regulation the Bishop of one diocese could accept election to the bishopric of another. Only missionary bishops may now do so. International traffic in war munitions and their private manufacture was condemned in a resolution passed with three dissenting votes. It was presented by the Rev. Robert Kevin, chairman of the State of the Church Committee, and rector of Grace Church, Kirkwood.

Young Men Take Part. In contrast to previous conventions, many of the participants, including members of the clergy, were young men whose ideas often conflicted with those held by elderly members of the church. Installation of "young blood and liberal ideas" in the church is in accord with the policy of Bishop Scarlett, whose attitude toward union communion services and sociological projects has caused him to be regarded as one of the national leaders of the liberal wing of the church.

Delivering his annual convention sermon at Christ Church Cathedral last night, the Bishop summarized present international economic and political conditions and declared that "we meet at a time when misery and poverty, the undermining of self-respect through unemployment, are widespread."

Yet it is a time, he said, "when the power machine offers the hope of giving us all the materials of a social order which compared with our present situation becomes almost Utopian if we can succeed in replacing the motive of personal profit by a motive of a very different sort. Hence the mood of Christianity."

Too Much Complacency. Calling for religious and social vision, in keeping with "a new line of thinking," the Bishop charged that the church has been "too ready to come to terms with the world," and "too ready to water down the ethical response Jesus made to it."

The Bishop asserted the church has been "too much on the side of property" and accused churchmen of thinking too much of the church as an institution and too little of Christ. Too much complacency exists, he asserted.

Enlarging his scope to include all Christian churches, Bishop Scarlett said the church should be ashamed of its accomplishments when it considers its equipment and a membership of $4,000,000.

Signs of a better day are apparent, he concluded, citing the stand of the church in Germany, and emphasized the necessity of not only restoring sincere personal religion but of "extending its range to the redemption of all society, in its political, economic and cultural aspects."

Held in Three Auto Deaths. FULTON, Mo., Jan. 23.—Kenneth Dodd, 19 years old, and Homer Stone, 22, both of Kansas City, are held here to answer charges of manslaughter in connection with the death of three Negroes, whose automobile collided with the youth's parked truck.

4 Killed in Ball Wreck in Spain. By the Associated Press.
SANTANDER, Spain, Jan. 24.—Four persons were killed and 15 injured today when a train, sliding on rails made slippery by snow, jumped the track on a curve 44 miles from here. Those killed were the engineer and fireman, a member of the Civil Guard, and an unidentified passenger.

2200 PENNSYLVANIA MINERS VOTE TO RETURN TO WORK

Two Locals End Holiday and Two Others Are Taking Vote.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 24.—Two mines reopened today and workers at two more are to vote on whether they will end their "holiday" which has paralleled the strike of the United Anthracite Miners of Pennsylvania.

Union locals at the Prospect and Henry collieries of the Lehigh Valley Coal Co., where 2200 men are employed, voted last night to resume work. The locals acting today also are at Lehigh Valley Mines, the Exeter and the Westmoreland, with a combined payroll of about 1100.

Today is the last opportunity given strikers by the Glen Alden Coal Co. to return to work or remove their tools.

A bomb, apparently of dynamite,
which exploded on a garage roof across the alley, shattered 10 windows in the Southwest Turner Hall, 2705 Potomac street, where a class of 50 boys was in session, at 8:45 o'clock last night. No one was injured.

The bomb had been tossed onto the garage back of the home of
W. E. Vaeth, a fruit dealer, 3456
Iowa avenue. The blast tore a hole
two feet in diameter in the garage roof, damaging a new automobile belonging to Vaeth. Windows in the garage and in the Turner hall were smashed, and the turning class was interrupted while the boys ran to windows to investigate. Police estimated the total damage at about $100.

Vaeth said he was at a loss to account for the bombing. J. H.
Doernhoefer, manager of the hall,
said there was no reason to believe the attack was directed at the turners. After the excitement abated the boys' class was resumed.

Police were unable to find anyone who saw the explosion placed. The recently reorganized police bombing squad took charge of the investigation.

94 ORGANIZATIONS FAVOR RETAINING SCHOOL TAX RATE

Special Elections to Be Held Feb.
20 to Fix Levy for Four Years.

Ninety-four school, civic and labor organizations so far have adopted resolutions favoring retention of the school tax rate of 85 cents on the $100 assessed valuation. A special election will be held Feb. 20 on the question of fixing
this rate for the next four years.
It has been in effect 13 years.

Talks in support of the 85-cent
rate will be made tonight by Arthur Stoehr before the Building Trades Council and Louis H. Hoffmann before the German Theater Organization at Germania House. C. J. Pursey addressed the Co-operative Club on the subject at Hotel Statler this noon and Mrs. A. S. Langsdorf spoke about it before the Council for Child Study.

Members of school patrons' organizations have been serving as chairmen and workers at headquarters of the Citizens' School Tax Campaign Committee. Older students also have volunteered services.

WOMAN WHO KILLED MAN WITH BOTTLE IS SENTENCED

Mrs. Viola Clavin of East St. Louis
Gets One to Fourteen Years.

Mrs. Viola Clavin, 40 years old, was sentenced to a term of one to 14 years in the Dwight, Ill., reformatory for women when she pleaded guilty today, before City Judge Cook in East St. Louis, to a charge of manslaughter.

Mrs. Clavin was indicted last week on a murder charge arising out of the death of Marion M.
Brown, concrete worker, whom she hit on the head with a bottle in a drunken fight at a rooming house
at 22 North Sixth street, East St.
Louis. She was permitted to plead guilty to the lesser charge.

Judge Cook also sentenced Paul Smith, 1910 Exchange avenue, to a prison term of one to 20 years for robbery.

Thirty-eight defendants indicted
by the city grand jury last week were arraigned but pleaded not guilty.

Woman Fractures Shoulder in Fall.
Mrs. Esther Parsons, 36-year-old widow, suffered a fractured shoulder when she fell down stairs at her home, 2820A Glasgow avenue,
early today. She was taken to City Hospital.

TEST SUIT ON COMPROMISE FOR WORKMAN'S COMPENSATION

Man Who Says He Is Totally Disabled Seeks to Set Aside $204 Agreement.

Suit was filed in Circuit Court yesterday to set aside a compromise settlement of damages with an injured laborer, under a clause
of the workmen's compensation law. Henry G. Morris, attorney for the plaintiff, said this was the first test of the validity of such compromises, many of which have been effectuated since the Missouri Workman's Compensation Commission was established in 1926.

The plaintiff is Pearl E. Kast of Kickwood, who it is alleged, was totally disabled by a back injury suffered when moving timber as a laborer for Swift & Co., packers.

Defendants are Swift & Co., the Security Mutual Casualty Co. of Illinois, which insured the packing concern for workmen's compensation liability; the compensation commission and Orin H. Shaw, a member of the commission.

Kast, who is about 33 years old,
was induced to sign the compromise agreement, whereby he was paid $204 for 15 weeks' compensation, the suit says. Shaw was present and approved this in good faith,
but neither Kast nor Shaw knew the nature and extent of Kast's injuries, it is alleged. The suit accords with Kast's rights. Kast filed charges Swift & Co. and the insurance company with suppressing the facts as to Kast's condition, and asserts the settlement was not in accord with Kast's rights. Kast filed a claim for further compensation

Feb. 5, 1932, which the commission has refused to hear, the suit aversion ordered to hear the claim.

REHEARING ON OKLAHOMA MORATORIUM LAW DENIED

U. S. Supreme Court Decision in Minnesota Case Cited in State Tribunal.

By the Associated Press.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 24.—Declining petitions for rehearing, the State Supreme Court yesterday reaffirmed a recent decision on the Oklahoma mortgage moratorium
law in which it held unconstitutional provisions for a nine months' delay
in foreclosure cases but upheld right of trial courts to permit continuances.

The United States Supreme Court's recent decision which upheld validity of the Minnesota mortgage moratorium act was cited
by attorneys who sought reversal of the original opinion, handed down Oct. 7.

Justice Earl Welch declared,
however, the United States Supreme Court decision confirmed views of the majority of the Oklahoma court. His opinion stated there was a vital difference between the Oklahoma and the Minnesota laws in that Oklahoma's Legislature overlooked the constitutional limit on legislative power while the Minnesota Legislature did not.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a severe cough following a cold can be conquered until you try this famous recipe.
It is used in more homes than any other cough remedy, because it gives prompt, positive relief. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.
Into a pint bottle pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pine, then add granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Syrup is easily made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. This gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money, and it's a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes fine.
Instantly you feel its penetrating effect. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm, clears the air passages and soothes and helps heal the inflamed membranes. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief in severe winter coughs.
Pine is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, used for generations for its quick effect on throat membranes. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Five Youths Plead Guilty Shortly After Indictment; Get Year to Life.

By the Associated Press.
CARLINVILLE, Ill., Jan. 24.—Five young Chicagoans were indicted, pleaded guilty and were taken to Chester Penitentiary yesterday to serve one year to life sentences for the robbery of the State Bank of Girard last Friday.
Sentences were pronounced a few hours after indictments were returned by the Macoupin County grand jury. The gang was captured by a posse in Hancock County after a pursuit of more than 100 miles. Those taken to prison are Ray and Emil Grieger, Howard and Harlan Mascarella and Jesse Simmerman.

TO EXHIBIT GOLD CROSS GIVEN TO MRS. LINDBERGH

Missouri Historical Society to Add Award to Trophies at Jefferson Memorial.

The cross of the United States Flag Association, awarded Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh for her part in the recent flight touching four continents, has been forwarded to the Missouri Historical Society and will be placed on exhibition with the other Lindbergh trophies at Jefferson Memorial.
The cross, of gold, bears the inscription "For Service to Our Flag." It is attached to a pin by a red, white and blue ribbon. A scroll accompanying the award states that the title "Lady of the Flag" has been conferred on Mrs. Lindbergh for her "admirable courage, spirit and efficiency" as navigator and radio operator for her husband on the 30,000-mile aerial survey. Col. Lindbergh received a similar award for his solo flight to Paris.
A box of miscellaneous trophies, received this week, is being unpacked and the articles will be placed on exhibition shortly.

PARDON FOR FOUR AMERICANS IN MALLORCA RECOMMENDED

Attorney-General of Spain Acts in Case Growing Out of Attack on Civil Guard.

By the Associated Press.
MADRID, Jan. 24.—The Attorney-General of Spain recommended to the Supreme Court today a pardon for four Americans held in jail at Palma, Mallorca, for assaulting a civil guard.
The four are Mr. and Mrs. Clinton B. Lockwood of West Springfield, Mass.; Roger F. Mead of New York and Edmund A. Blodgett of Stamford, Conn. They have been held in custody at Palma since last Sunday when they were arrested following a Supreme Court reversal of a military tribunal verdict. The military court had acquitted them of the charges, but the Supreme Court found them guilty and sentenced them to six months and a day in jail.

Intercession for their pardon was made directly to the Spanish Government by Ambassador Claude G. Bowers of the United States.

Suit for divorce was filed yesterday by Donald G. Bender, a service station manager for the Standard Oil Co., and a leading amateur golfer, against Mrs. Martha Louise Bender, physical instructor at the Y. W. C. A.

He alleges general indignities, asserting that his wife told him she no longer loved him. He further says she criticized him about his inability to properly support her. They were married in 1931 at Red Wing, Minn., and separated last Jan. 3.

Bender, who has won several minor golf tournaments, lives at 4984 West Pine boulevard.

POLICEMAN FIRES AT ROBBERS

Two Men Escape in Auto Taken in Holdup.

Patrolman Harry Meyers of Maplewood fired two shots last night in pursuing two men who had held up Luther S. Lyon, 7017 Wise avenue, and taken his automobile.

They escaped.
The robbers forced their way into Lyon's machine at Bellevue and Bruno avenues, putting him out after they had driven a short distance. He called St. Louis police and Patrolman Meyers heard the radio broadcast at the Maplewood police station. Driving along Yale avenue, Meyers sighted the stolen machine and gave chase, losing it near Yale and Dale avenues.

'CLASSIC EXAMPLE' OF HOW UTILITIES WIN AN ELECTION

Power Provided Free for Church Carnival, 263 Canvassers Hired in Portsmouth, O.

PAY REPORTED AT FROM $3 TO $500

National Popular Government League Points Out Municipal Advocates Had Only $220 to Spend.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The latest last November of a municipal power plant proposal at Portsmouth, O., was termed a "classic example" of an election "debauched by the power companies" in a statement by the National Popular Government League on the electrical code.

To the statement the league appended the expense account of Hugh H. Higgins, "Secretary, committee opposing ordinance providing for municipal electric works." It showed a contribution of $10,802 by the American Gas & Electric Co., and expenditures of like amount, largely for precinct work.

The league said Higgins was local manager of the Ohio Power Co., the expense account was filed with the Scioto County Board of Election.

"The report," the league's statement said, "gives the names of some 263 'canvassers' who are listed as receiving all the way from $3 to $500. These men and women are supposed to constitute the forces which went from door to door and canvassed the city to ascertain how voters in each home were going to vote. . . .

"In addition, there are given the names of early 100 'challengers' and 'witnesses,' two persons to each election precinct, who were paid $10 and $5 respectively presumably to insure a pure election and an honest count."

The league said the anti-union group expenditure of $10,800 in Portsmouth, a city of 43,000 population, was against $220 spent by proponents of the public plant.

The league said the campaign was carried beyond ordinary canvassing.

"During the campaign," the league said, "the Methodist Church at a village in the suburbs of Portsmouth held a carnival. The Ohio Power Co. circulated cards reading:

"This carnival was made possible through the Ohio Power Company's donation of electric power for cooking and lighting. Remember this when voting next Nov. 7."

The league made charges of various alleged irregularities against various power officials.

100 METHODIST PASTORS AND LAYMEN HOLD RALLY

Two Bishops Speak; Meeting a Preliminary to Easter Campaign for Funds.

More than 100 pastors and lay members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in St. Louis and vicinity, gathered at Centenary Methodist Church, Sixteenth and Pine streets, today for an inspirational rally at which two of the church's 15 bishops were the chief speakers.

Bishop A. Frank Smith, of Houston, Tex., who has charge of the district which embraces Illinois and Missouri, presided at the morning and afternoon sessions of the rally and will speak again tonight. Bishop Samuel R. Hay, of San Antonio, Tex., spoke this morning and will make another address tonight.

The meeting is held as a preliminary to the annual campaign for funds made at Easter time. Half of the money collected goes for missions and the other half for the "benevolent askings" of the church—education, church extension, and other activities carried on by the church at large. Similar meetings are being held throughout the church.

The afternoon session was given over to round table conferences on current church topics and at 7:30 o'clock there will be two main addresses on "Kingdom Extension" and "Missions and Evangelism."

COLLECTOR IDENTIFIES MAN IN $800 HOLDUP

Accuses Him as One of Three Who Robbed Him Saturday Night.

William Spinelli, 32 years old,
under bond on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, has been identified, police said yesterday, as one of three robbers who took $800
in cash and checks from Edward McGrath, collector for the Ozark Paint Stores Co., last Saturday evening.

McGrath, who was stopped in the 2900 block of Meramec street by three men in an automobile, furnished police with the license number of the machine. Police learned that Spinelli had been seen riding in the car, and it was recalled that he was arrested half a block from the Ozark Co., 2924 South Broadway, last Dec. 30, when detectives found a loaded revolver in his possession. On McGrath's identification, a robbery warrant was issued against Spinelli. He declined to talk. Officers reported they found a loaded pistol at the prisoner's home.

MRS. MARY ANN WALSH DIES

Owner of Undertaking Establish-

Mrs. Mary Ann Walsh, owner of the Walsh Undertaking establishment, East St. Louis, died yesterday of infirmities of age at her home, 705 Illinois avenue. She was 84 years old.

A native of England, Mrs. Walsh was brought to this country by her parents when a baby. She was married in 1867 to M. J. Walsh,

OPEN EVENINGS

Many of the most desirable rental properties now available are advertised extensively in the Post-Dispatch want pages.

Eddie Woods, All-Around

Champion Cowboy, says:

"To have nerves that can take it, I smoke only Camels. I've tried them all but Camels are my smoke! They have a natural mildness, and I like their taste better. Camels do not jangle my nerves, even when I smoke one after another."

"COWBOYS NEED HEALTHY NERVES — AND, BELIEVE ME, SO DO HOUSEWIVES"

Mrs. Phyllis L. Potter, Home Maker, Montclair, New Jersey, says:

"I don't doubt but what it takes healthy nerves to ride an outlaw horse! But any woman who is a home maker will agree with me that shopping, cleaning, answering the doorbell a dozen times a day, and tending to all the other duties of running a household are enough to jangle anybody's nerves. I know that I have to be careful in choosing my cigarettes. I am a confirmed Camel smoker because I can smoke Camels freely without a hint of jumpy nerves. And they are the mildest cigarette I ever smoked!"

How Are YOUR Nerves?

Fortunate indeed is that modern man or woman who does not get nervously upset. Raw, jangled nerves seem, all too often, to be the order of the day.

If nerves are your problem, we suggest
a check-up now—on your eating, sleeping, and smoking. Get a fresh slant on your smoking by trying Camels. Much is heard about the tobaccos used in various cigarettes. But this is a fact, as any impartial leaf-tobacco expert will tell you:

Camels are made from finer,
MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS

than any other popular brand. An important fact to nervous people!

Everywhere you see Camels smoked more and more. People do care about mildness...about good taste...about their nerves. And Camels never get on your nerves...never tire your taste.

Men Apparently Broke Through Ice in Michigan Lake.
By the Associated Press.

JACKSON, Mich., Jan. 24.—Miss Jackson, since they started on a hunting trip Monday, three men were found drowned yesterday in Portage Lake, 18 miles from here. Apparently they had broken through the ice, which had been weakened by warm weather.

The men were Herman Tisch, 30 years old; Raymond Hoffman, 30, and his brother, Verne, 24, all of Munith.

ADVERTISEMENT*Famous Cough Prescription

A famous doctor wrote a prescription which he gave to hundreds of his patients suffering from Coughs and Common Sore Throat due to colds. It became so popular and was so highly successful that the doctor allowed his druggist to put it up under the name Thoxine and make it available to everyone at a small cost—so now you can get from any druggist for 35c what formerly cost $3.00. Millions of bottles have been sold. Demand Thoxine at your drug store.

IN DIVORCE COURT

EMIL HAARHAUS.

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.
MRS. LENA HAARHAUS.

PAIR MARRIED IN 1887 SEEKS SECOND DIVORCE

Emil Haarhaus and Wife Each Ask for Decree—Re-wed in 1923.

In divorce court for a second time in 46 years of wedded life, Emil Haarhaus, 69 years old, and Mrs. Lena Haarhaus, 67, continued the account of their differences today in Circuit Judge Hoffmeister's court.

They were married Sept. 14, 1887, divorced April 30, 1923, remarried on the following Oct. 13, and separated again last August. Each seeks a divorce on grounds of indignity. They have five surviving of 10 children.

Haarhaus, a newspaper stereotyper, related yesterday that his wife once sold all their furniture for $70 and installed the furniture of a daughter. He asserted that on another occasion Mrs. Haarhaus had driven him from the house with a pistol.

Taking her turn on the stand, Mrs. Haarhaus said she was "a changed man" after her remarriage in 1923, until she turned over $2200 in Union Electric stock and their home at 2110 Filippa street to him, and put the bank account in their joint names.

Soon, she testified, the $1000 bank account had dwindled to 54 cents. She said he would "ask for things" when she was ill, and "torment" her—"about old break chairs and dishes—until she gave in. Asked if he took her to places of amusement, she said he took her, but let her wait outside while he went in and drank.

WALDORF-ASTORIA WAITERS STRIKE AT DINNER HOUR

Several Hundred Guests at Tables When 600 Employees Walk Out After Chef's Discharge.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Six hundred waiters, bus boys, cooks and helpers went on strike at the dinner hour last night at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Several hundred hungry persons eventually were advised to obtain their evening's meal elsewhere.

The employees, members of the Amalgamated Food Workers' Union, walked out because of the discharge of Andre Fourgout, a chef. The union spokesmen argued that he was discharged because of his militant unionism. By 11 o'clock a slender staff had been recruited by the hotel, with minor executives filling in, to man several dining rooms. Outside, on Park avenue and Lexington avenue, pickets walked up and down with placards.

Two Killed in Auto Crash.

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., Jan. 24.—Herman Haney of Dexter, and Velma Hutchcraft, 19 years old, of Dudley, were killed and three other young people injured, two seriously, when the main roadster in which they were driving to a dance, collided with a truck last night. Haney and Miss Hutchcraft died after being brought to a hospital here. These injured were Jack Boone, 28; Robert Arnold, 17, and Martha Stewart, 21, all of Dexter, Mo. The crash occurred on Highway 60, near Essex.

St. Louis Woman Weds in East. NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Charles G. B. Schenk, 66 years old, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Mrs. Katherine M. Logan, 47, St. Louis, were married in Municipal Chapel today.

WILD REJOICING BY CUBANS OVER U. S. RECOGNITION

Soldiers, Sailors and Civilians Fire Weapons in Air
—Hundreds of Persons Cheer in Streets.

OTHER POWERS APPROVE MENDIETA

Britain Among Those Re-summing Normal Relations With New Government
at Havana.

By the Associated Press.
HAVANA, Jan. 24.—Cuba took its place again among the recognized governments of the world today and its new President, Carlos Mendieta, set out to solve its affairs at home.
Other great powers followed the action of the United States, which granted recognition to Mendieta yesterday. Those which granted recognition besides the United States were Mexico, Colombia, Uruguay, Chile, Dominican Republic, China, Italy, Bolivia, Costa Rica, Peru, Great Britain, France and Spain.

Ceremony of Recognition.

In a brief ceremony at the State Department yesterday, Jefferson Caffery, acting for the United States Government, handed Secretary of State Clegg de la Torrionte the document confirming American good will and notifying Cubans that the United States was ready to resume normal diplomatic relations.

Immediately after the visit, soldiers, sailors and civilians fired thousands of shots into the air and factory and steamship whistles almost drowned the noise of the salutes.

As ancient Habana fortress answered the Wyoming's courtesy the cheering along the waterfront became louder and the celebration
wilder.

Army and Navy machine gunners joined with almost ceaseless fire
from the weapons with which Col.
Fulgencio Batista put down revolutionary attempts in 1933.

Civilians brought out rifles, shotguns and pistols and fired them into the air. Army airplanes circled overhead. The shooting and the cheering spread through midtown Havana and the presidential palace was the scene of intense jubilation as hundreds of persons tried to enter the building to congratulate Mendieta.

American newspaper men motoring through the city were followed by crowds of cheering persons,
many of whom tried to climb on the running boards.

Reported Text of Note.
The formal notification of recognition, which was in writing and signed by Freeman Matthews as the American Charge d'Affaires, was presented by Caffery.

Its text was not made public but it was understood to read as follows:

"I have the honor to inform your excellency that I have been instructed by the Secretary of State of my Government, under the authorization of the President of the United States of America, to extend to the Government of Cuba on behalf of the United States a formal and cordial recognition.

"I avail myself of this opportunity to extend to your excellency
the assurance of my highest consideration."

Representing Cuba at the ceremony were Torriente, Manuel Marquez Sterling, Ambassador to the United States, Assistant Secretary of State de Blance and Enrique Soler y Baro, the official intro-ducer of ministers.

DEMOCRATS RE-ELECT BYRNS

Tennessee Heads Congressional Committee for Third Time.
By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—At a reorganization meeting last night,
the Democratic Congressional Committee unanimously re-elected Representative Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee as chairman for the third consecutive time.

Byrns was not present at the meeting, but it was announced that he would accept. He is Democratic floor leader in the House, and to relieve Byrns of detailed duties, the committee elected Representative McClintic of Oklahoma as executive assistant. McClintic ranks next to Byrns in point of service on the committee. Charles Hayden, Washington newspaper man, was elected secretary.

Faby Confirmed as Marshal.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The Senate yesterday confirmed the nomination of Joseph B. Fabyan, Ohio, as Assistant Attorney-General. J. Earl Major was confirmed as United States District Judge for Illinois. William B. Faby was confirmed as Marshal for Eastern Mis-

DEMANDS HOUSE RESTAURANT SHALL SERVE NEGROES

Congressman De Priest Says
They Will Eat There "or We Will Close It."

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The
only Negro member of the House, Representative Oscar De Priest of Chicago, gave notice today that he would carry to the floor of the House the issue of whether Negroes shall eat in the House restaurant.

"Either Negroes eat there or we will close the restaurant," he declared.

Representative Warren, North Carolina Democrat, who heads the committee in charge of the restaurant, said: "It has never served Negro employees or visitors nor will it so long as I have anything to do with it."

The issue was raised yesterday
when De Priest's secretary, Morris Lewis, went to the grill room of the restaurant, accompanied by a Negro friend, and ordered food at the horseshoe counter. A Negro waiter refused to serve him. First the manager and then Representative Warren were called. Warren said he had given the order. De Priest immediately objected and declared later he would force a House vote on a privileged resolution to gain a decision.

"If the Democrats are going to act that way toward the Negroes," he said, "we might as well have a showdown now. It seems funny to me that a man with money to pay for his food, whether he be Jew, Gentile or Negro should be refused
food in a public restaurant."

Warren maintained De Priest was privileged to eat there but contended "if we let one Negro employee eat in the restaurant, we'll have to let all of them."

Speaker Rainey called De Priest
to his office for a conference later in the day. Rainey told him: "Don't you do anything about that matter until I see you."

PUBLIC DEBT CHARGES $1,350,000,000 A YEAR

House Committee Reports $185,429,000 Increase in Requirements.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The House Appropriations Committee
today recommended $20,803,270
for operating the Treasury and Postoffice departments during the next fiscal year, representing a $408,823, 327 decrease from the current allotment and a $6,883,830 cut in the budget estimates.

The report, submitted to the House, also showed an increase in annual public debt service requirements of $185,429,000 in view of the increase of the public debt to $23, 534,000,000 as of Nov. 30, 1933.

This brought the total annual debt service requirements to $1, 350,087,850, including $525,738,850
for the sinking fund and $824,349,000
for interest.

The Treasury was allotted $149,
842,330 for the fiscal year beginning July 1 and the Postoffice Department $670,850,940. While the public debt and other permanent annual and indefinite appropriations amounting to $1,365,494,000 are reported in the supply bill, the money is withdrawn for payments automatically and Congress does not pass on them.

In reporting the bill, Chairman
Arnold (Dem.), Illinois, of the Subcommittee in charge of the group was "not inclined to make any increase in the present rate of expenditure until all investigations and studies of air mail contracts and practices have been completed."

The postoffice as well as a Senate committee, he said, is inquiring into the air and ocean mail subsidy contracts.

The committee allotted $14,000,000
for domestic air mail, $1,000,000 less than for this year; $37,500,000 for foreign air and ocean mail, or $800, 000 less than for the current period.
Of the latter, $7,000,000 is for foreign air mail.

Under the postoffice section was allotted nearly $398,046,000 for salaries of postmasters, letter carriers
and other employees; $214,937,000
went for subsidies to air, ocean mail, and railroad mail service, while $31,396,000 was for postoffice build-

BILLION DOLLAR TREASURY ISSUE AT 21-2, 11-2 PCT.

Government Offers Notes of $500,000,000 Maturing in 1935, and Certificates Due Sept. 15.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Two short-term Treasury issues for a total of $1,000,000,000 are offered to the public by Secretary Morgenthau.

This is the start of the task of borrowing $10,000,000,000 to meet recovery costs and maturing debt between now and June 30.

One offering is a $500,000,000
issue of Treasury notes, paying 2 1/2 per cent interest, dated Jan. 29 and maturing March 15, 1935. The other is an issue of $500,000,000 of certificates of indebtedness bearing 1 1/2 per cent, dated Jan. 29 and maturing
Sept. 15 of this year.

Increase in Revenue.
Announcement of the first borrowing, which was planned in conference between President Roosevelt and Federal Reserve Bank officials, coincides with a statement of Internal Revenue collections for the first half of the 1934 fiscal year, showing total payments of $1,215,545,550, compared with $744, 437,495 for the corresponding 1933
period.

Big factors in the increase are $140,563,000 in agricultural processing taxes which were not effective
last year, and boosts of $98,905,
000 in manufacturers' excise taxes,
$94,817,000 in liquor and beer, $79,
339,000 in capital stock levies, $27,
881,000 from dividends and $34,024,
000 from estates.

In December, the first month of legal liquor, distilled spirits paid
the Treasury $8,651,000, compared with $597,921 in December, 1932.
$10,000,000,000 Borrowing Planned.

Morgenthau's financial announcement opened the current period of huge Government peace-time borrowing. President Roosevelt has estimated the Treasury must sell $10,000,000,000 of obligations before the end of the current fiscal year.
Observers look for another public offering in a few weeks. Not only must the Government borrow $6,000,000,000 for recovery expenditures but $4,000,000,000 of outstanding obligations mature in the first six months of 1934.

March 15 is the date of the first large maturity, when $460,099,000
in certificates must be met. Then, on April 15, approximately a billion dollars in called Fourth Liberty Bonds falls due. A conversion issue probably will be offered in exchange.

A $174,905,000 certificate issue matures June 15. The rest of the $4, 000,000,000 in maturities is composed of three-month Treasury bills which sell at small discounts. Over a billion in this paper is outstanding.

Deficit of $1,727,000,000.
The first step in its financing program was announced by the Treasury as the Federal deficit for the fiscal year to date stood at $1, 727,617,000. By June 30, President
Roosevelt expects this to reach $7, 309,000,000, increasing the public debt to $29,847,000,000.

Tax receipts for the fiscal year
totalled $1,628,718,000 on Jan. 20.
Budget figures estimate revenue receipts from all sources on June 30—
the end of the fiscal year—at $3, 259,938,000.

The note and certificate issues
just announced will pay interest on a semi-annual basis. As usual, the Federal Reserve banks are designated to receive subscriptions which are now open.

The Treasury notes and the Treasury certificates of indebtedness will be exempt, Morgenthau

Tyler-North Market Street Housing Plan Ready for Ickes; Estimated Cost Is $4,610,000

Harland Bartholomew to Present Slum Clearance Proposal to PWA Saturday
—Details Revised.

Plans for the proposed North St.
Louis slum clearance housing development, in the area bounded by Tenth, Tyler and North Market streets and Blair avenue, will be presented to Secretary of the Interior Ickes, PWA chief, in Washington, Saturday, by Harland Bartholomew, engineer of the City Plan Commission.

Revised details of the plan were discussed by the City Plan Commission last night, at its meeting at the Melbourne Hotel. The plan was prepared by the commission, and has been approved by the local chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

The revised cost estimate, for the buildings to house 1497 families, is $4,610,000, about $400,000 above the former estimate. The estimated rental basis has not been changed. This is $5.82 a room per month, including water only, or $6.85 including also heat, gas and electricity.

Government Ownership Sought.
The Government, through the Federal Emergency Housing Corporation, is being asked to assume entire cost of the plan, and would own the buildings. Similar plans and requests have been made by several other cities.

Bartholomew will take to Washington charts and other exhibits, showing the present conditions in the area of the proposed site, and the number of cases which develop there for institutions of charity and correction. The residents of the area, it is shown, are now paying an average rental of $3.71 a room per month, not including water,
heat, gas or electricity.

The area, which extends five blocks in each direction, but from which one city block, at the southeast corner, is omitted, includes

Webster School, which would remain. New driveways would take the place of some present streets,
and a park would be provided at the rear of the school.

Taxes paid on property in this area are now about $31,000 a year,
the commission was informed. Real estate men have argued that the new buildings should pay at least as much in taxes as the city now receives from the same land. In last night's discussion, Bartholomew
said he understood the housing system financed by the Federal Government would be operated under an agency which would pay local taxes.

Second St. Louis Housing Plan.
The Tyler-North Market street housing development is distinct from the smaller Neighborhood Gardens plan, for the block bounded by Seventh, Eighth, Biddle and O'Fallon streets. Neighborhood Gardens, to cost $550,000, is to be built by a private non-profit corporation, with a $500,000 Federal loan.

One of the tables to be taken to Washington shows a present 7 per cent vacancy in flats, as compared with 10 per cent a year ago, and shows that apartment vacancies
are now 12 per cent, as against 20 per cent a year ago.

The commission discussed the work being done under its direction by CWA workers in making a building line survey of the city, as a basis for a future building line ordinance; in the property use survey, to serve as a guide for future zoning plans; and in a regional planning survey of the district around St. Louis. The force engaged in this work uses one-half the unfinished eighth floor of the Civil Courts Building.

RUSSIA TO TEACH 500,000 PERSONS TO FLY GLIDERS

Soviet, in Campaign to Make Youth Air-Minded, Hopes to Have Them
Qualified by 1938.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MOSCOW, Jan. 24.—Soviet Russia is engaged in making its future citizens the most aviation-minded people in the world.

Five hundred thousand qualified glider pilots and a completely aviation-minded youth is the goal which the U. S. S. R. expects to reach with the completion of the Second Five-Year Plan.

How many thousands of men and women already have qualified is not known, but, according to the "plan," 30,000 should have received their licenses by the end of 1933.

That there is an intense union-wide interest in gliding is evident wherever one goes and world glider records have been set. Here in Moscow, particularly, there are almost 1000 students. (At this point, permit your correspondent to report
that he and Miss Fay Gillis, American aviator and first woman member of the "Caterpillar Club," have after months of effort, received permission to purchase gliders and fly them, which is most important.
They are the first foreigners ever to be accorded such privileges.)

The Nineteenth All-Union Conference of gliders recently held in the Crimea also testifies to the interest in and development of gliding. Among the many types of glider flown was a latest plane designed and constructed by Engineer Charonovsk and said to possess unusual flying qualities.

Some extraordinary flying was also done at the meet.

Komsomol Pilot Smilovsk glided 31 miles and established what is said to be a new world record for glider height—10,827 feet.

Pilot Anokhin performed the most interesting straight-line flight, covering 38 miles and then returning to his starting point. He also made a new record in nonstop flying—17 hours.

Komsomol Yudin was towed 1875
miles over the Orenburg-Moscow-Koktebel route and Pilot Pleskov performed a similar feat from Saratov to Koktebel.

The year 1933 marks what the Bolsheviks regard as the turning-year in the development of Soviet gliding. They have succeeded in arousing a tremendous interest in it, chiefly by propagandizing it as something which will satisfy the sporting instinct and at the same time assist materially in Soviet construction.

Courses for instruction in glider
flying have been organized by Osovkhim at factories, collective and state farms and machine tractor stations, as well as at the hundreds of civil aviation fields which dot
the Union. Technical training has

JAPAN'S NEW WAR LORD

Letter of 200 Educators
Cites 'Storm Troop' Idea of Assistant Secretary of War Woodring.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Educators of 30 colleges and universities remanded of President Roosevelt today the resignation of Harry H.
Woodring, Assistant Secretary of War, because of a magazine article
in which he proposed organization of "economic storm troops" through Federal relief administration.

The declaration was made in a letter, signed by more than 200 educators, which was made public here.
Among those protesting Wood-ring's statements were E. A. Ross, professor of sociology, University of Wisconsin; Robert Morris Lovett, professor of English, University of Chicago; Edward Hulme, professor of history, Stanford University;
Gordon Allport, professor of psychology, Harvard University; Broadus Mitchell, professor of economics,
Johns Hopkins; M. E. Curti, professor of history, Smith College; Colston E. Warne, professor of economics, Amherst College.

Article in Liberty.
The demand for Woodring's resignation was based on an article written by the War Department official in Liberty entitled "The American Army Stands Ready."

The educators called Woodring's statement, that the army "is our ace in the hole for peace as well as war," a "totally unwarranted threat
to the civil liberties of the American people" and a veiled advocacy of Nazi dictatorship.

"Where we deceived," the letter asked of the President, "when in response to vigorous protests against apparent militarization of the C. C. C. at its formation, the people were assured that militarization was not even considered? If not, then Mr. Woodring has made presumptions and dangerous assumptions as to his official function with reference to this branch of the Federal Relief and conservation program."

"German Nazi Methods."
"We contend that Mr. Woodring's suggestion to organize the veterans of the World War, the C. C. C. men, and through them the administration of relief into a system of economic storm troops. Is not even a thinly veiled advocacy of German Nazi dictatorship methods?"

"We contend, Mr. President, that this is a totally unwarranted threat
to the civil liberties of the American people, and if this attitude prevails in the War Department of your administration, we are made to feel that our country is being prepared for such an abuse of power
as is intolerable to contemplation."
"We submit that a man who proposes such a plan ... be forced to resign his public office."

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

In Reply to Senator Monroe.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

JAMES O. MONROE, State Senator from Illinois, in taking your editorial columns to task for their recent criticisms of the Missouri Legislature, appears to entertain the impression that the Governor's office in the State of Missouri is being Hitlerized. Continuing, he commends the Missouri Senate for "its firmness in resisting the efforts of the Governor to jam his program down their throats."

But all this is just a "cry in the wilderness" as far as concerns us Missourians, who are still pink-eared and blushing over our recent spectacle of legislative degeneracy. It has generally been agreed among political observers and students of government that the Governor's proposals were not extreme. In fact, some even complained that they hardly went far enough in view of the offer of the Federal Government relating to public works. And if Mr. Monroe would avail himself of such data as is contained in reports of the Missouri State Survey Commission, the reports of the relief committee, the reports for last year from the office of the Superintendent of Schools, etc., the above contention would be well borne out.

However, in a time of dire necessity, when a Senate composed of 34 members deliberately refuses to act upon measures of relief—measures which both the Governor and lower house staunchly defend—then "firmness" becomes sheer obstinacy of the most vicious character. The Legislature is the primary source of authority in State Government—representative of the electorate and trusted by it to do its bidding. But when it violates this sacred trust—perhaps in favor of a powerful utility lobby (which Senator Bales refers to as "the little pikers that go to Jefferson City"), then representative government has fallen flat on its back. Certainly the good gentleman does not condone such legislative behavior!

In closing his letter, Mr. Monroe states that "unless you want to go in for dictatorship in State and nation, you had best not be too critical of legislative assemblies." But perhaps the Senator has forgotten that it is just such legislative incompetence and obstinacy in times of severe economic hardships that drive governments into dictatorships.

The good gentleman from Illinois is undoubtedly sincere in all that he says, but I would suggest that a better acquaintance with Missouri legislative history for the last decade might change his viewpoint entirely.

For a Municipal Coke Plant.

WHAT is the use of painting and beautifying buildings in St. Louis as long as nothing is being done to remove the detrimental effect of smoke?

Soft coal is the cause of it all, no matter how it is burned, and not everyone can afford smokeless fuel, especially at the present high price.

Now that Federal funds are available, why not build a municipal coke plant, turn soft coal into coke and then sell it to the consumer at a rate which can be afforded by all, compelling its use, or that of other smokeless fuel? I believe that a $500,000 bond issue would pass, if advocated for this purpose, knowing the benefits to the city. But with Federal funds available, an amount would probably not be needed. It seems to me that this is by far the most important issue confronting St. Louis today.

MRS. F. J. HERRMAN.

The Reduction in County Water Rates.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

HARTFORD, the St. Louis County Water Co. has vigorously protested in public meeting, in private conference and in star chamber session, that it COULD NOT, that it WOULD NOT, at this time, reduce water rates.

Why now this sudden change? The reports are, a 12 per cent reduction has been agreed upon, and will be put into effect. So far, so good. But what is to be done about the 35 per cent of all the domestic users whom this reduction will not benefit at all? Are they to be sacrificed? And for whom?

No mean half-way compromise can satisfy; only when full control and conduct this vital utility in the right hands—the hands of the people themselves—will justice prevail for everyone. Plentiful, good, cheap water is essential to the life blood of a community and only to its own care must this business be entrusted.

When the service is safely out of the hands of private individuals who operate for personal gain, and into the hands of the municipalities, who will operate it for the benefit of the public—not until then can this issue be finally settled.

JOS. A. STIFFELMAN.

Union Station for Union Market.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

SINCE the Union Market was never a success and it has been decided to transform half of it into a bus station, why not go the whole length? Why not make it a union station for all buses, and build a roof extending on all sides wide enough to cover buses while loading and unloading? Union Market would be especially suitable as a bus station, as there is a garage for parking cars on the second floor.

PROLETARIAT.

ELECTRICITY—A SHACKLED GIANT.

The Federal Government has undertaken the job of popularizing electricity. We have plenty of electric power in the United States, but we use it sparingly. The reasons were told in a paper by David E. Lillenthal, director and general counsel of the Tennessee Valley Authority, read before the American Academy of Political and Social Science, which was reprinted, in part, on this page Monday.

First, the rates are too high. Second, the cost of electrical appliances is too high.

The power people say they cannot reduce rates at the present consumption. They admit that if consumption could be expanded they could lower rates substantially. A leader of the industry pointed out that his most profitable customers are the large consumers, who pay 1.7 cents per kilowatt hour, as against the average rate of 4 1/2 cents, and the small user's rate of 8 cents. Consumption is held back by the prohibitive cost of electrical appliances.

The appliance people, taking the floor, say they cannot go into volume production while the present demand is so limited. So there's the stalemate. The appliance people blame the high cost of power, and the power people blame the high cost of appliances.

Uncle Sam is going to try to crack this jam. By order of the President, a subsidiary of TVA has been created, in the form of a Delaware corporation, known as EHFA, meaning Electric Home and Farm Authority.

The start is to be made with the manufacturers of appliances, who, Mr. Lillenthal says, "have indicated their willingness to participate in a program of producing certain types of standard quality, low-cost appliances." The seven states of the Tennessee Valley are to be the experimental laboratory. With the cost of appliances brought within the reach of people of small means, a market for power will have been so extended as to justify sharp reductions in rates. The plan seems logical. Indeed, it is precisely the kind of business procedure which individual initiative would traditionally inaugurate. Unfortunately, individual initiative just has not done its stuff. The initiative in this instance has been supplied by governmental suggestion.

But what about the price of electric power? Are present rates reasonable? Is the Power Trust telling the truth about the cost of producing and distributing current and charging its limited use to the high cost of appliances?

Perhaps that question cannot be answered positively now. It will be answered presently. The answer might have been known long ago, if the Norris plan for operating Muscle Shoals had not been held up through the three post-war administrations of Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

Meantime, a situation has developed in New York which is at least enlightening. Action was begun last May by the Public Service Commission of that State against the seven electric companies of the Consolidated Gas System for a 6 per cent reduction in rates, which would have amounted to less than $9,000,000 for one year only. True to form, the companies have fought and delayed the reduction by the customary devices of litigation.

Now, according to the New York Evening Post, these seven electric companies have built up $290,000,000 in surplus and reserves. They have also, the Post says, paid "greater dividends in the depression years of 1930, 1931 and 1932 than in any previous three-year period in their history." Their surpluses were so huge," continues the Post, "that they ran all the way from 10.32 per cent of fixed capital in the case of Westchester Lighting to 40.86 per cent in the case of New York & Queens Electric."

But, someone will ask, are not the earnings of public utilities regulated by law and a maximum established for the specific purpose of preventing the swollen profits of extortionate rates? That is the theory of regulation, but regulation, as the Post-Dispatch has been saying for years, has broken down. And what with holding companies to drain away profits and cryptic accountancy to conceal profits with such mythical items, say, as "going value," and the inability of state commissions to cope with such Titans, the public goes on paying excessive rates, and a great natural resource which ought to be performing a gigantic economic and social service has been defrauded by short-sighted greed of its proper development.

But we are moving on to the real age of electricity by way of the Tennessee Valley and an administration that is thinking in terms of today and tomorrow.

NORMAN THOMAS IN A CHEAP ROLE.

So Norman Thomas thinks Gen. Hugh Johnson would shine as a Barker for a side show, though no one would think of engaging him as a lion tamer. Rather tepid derision, that. The wisecrack must be deft, pungent, multum in snappy parvo, as the Latin does not say it, else it's out.

Mr. Thomas is miscast in mixing soggy-biscuit metaphors. Proponent of an idealistic philosophy, he has weathered the controversial gales with an impressive dignity of speech and bearing. There will be regret at beholding Socialism's Bayard awkwardly imitating a Barker.

THE TAXICAB INSURANCE MUDDLE.

The city's decision to enforce the ordinance requiring taxicabs to carry liability insurance has had some curious effects. About one-third of the city's cabs are running. Some of these have met the terms of the ordinance. Others, still uninsured, are protected by an injunction issued by Judge Calhoun. A temporary restraining order, issued by Judge Hamilton, protecting Yellow cab drivers from arrest, was dissolved last week and many arrests were made.

The public may well be mystified by these court actions and what constitutes at the present time lawful as against unlawful operation of cabs. The mystery deepens when William J. Brown, president of the American Taxicab Co. which runs the Yellow cabs, claims that the terms of the ordinance make it impossible for him to get insurance from reliable and responsible companies.

If Mr. Brown is correct, either the ordinance should be changed or the insurance companies are being over-conservative. Mr. Brown asserts that there is not a single unpaid or pending judgment against his company and that there are only a few open claims and four lawsuits against it. Why is his company, then, not a good risk? As to the cabs which have succeeded in obtaining insurance, what has been their experience? Were they able to induce responsible companies to protect them? If so, why cannot the American Taxicab Co. do likewise?

It seems to us an aldermanic inquiry is in order to answer these and other questions, both as to insurance on taxicabs and on service cars. The public has a deep interest in the subject. These conveyances cannot be allowed to travel about the city without protection being afforded to those who might be injured by them, or to heirs of those who are killed. Certainly, it should be possible quickly to discover what is the trouble, and upon whom the responsibility lies.

CONGRESS AND THE LOBBY.

Commendable as it is, President Roosevelt's move against the political lobby at Washington cannot serve the necessities of free government.

Only Congress itself can remove the disgrace of such a powerful impediment to popular government. Lobbying at the national capital has become a profession. Senator Byrnes of South Carolina, one of the administration leaders, has introduced a bill which would forbid members of Congress from practicing before Government departments. The bill is said to enjoy the support of the President.

There is another way in which Congress can deal with the lobby. That is to deny former members the privilege of the floor.

Most of the more powerful lobbyists at Washington are former members of the House or Senate. Some of them are former members of both. They enjoy a peculiar advantage, and they are well paid for it. At the time the Walsh resolution to investigate the public utilities was before the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce, the chief antagonist of the resolution was former Senator Lenroot. He had been one of the strongest men in the Senate, perhaps its ablest parliamentarian. His mere appearance in a committee room carried enormous prestige. He was said to have received $20,000 for this service.

In the office buildings at Washington, many of them maintained in expensive suites, are scores of the former members of Congress now living as lobbyists. Some of them represent one client, others a dozen. At such a time as this, when the Government is invading new fields, the importunities of lobbyists are multiplied. It has become a serious national problem. The more adroit lobbyists are far more puissant than most members of Congress. They are veterans in the cockpit of legislation, men capable of making any cause assume the shining armor of virtue. It is said of Zeno and his sophists that theirs was the art of making the better cause appear the worst. If so, they had nothing on the crack lobbyists of Washington, the men whose Belshazzar feasts are the glory of the capital hotels and whose purses are fat with the spoils of privilege.

Something must be done about it, and to withdraw from all former members the privilege of the floor would be a beginning. It would put a shot in the bull's-eye.

SCRAPPING F. O. B.

One of the automobile companies has decided to quit quoting prices from the point of shipment. It will tell the buyer just what the car will cost him delivered at his front door. Its dealer organization approves the change.

What the market's response will be experience must determine. It ought to be favorable, provided the truth is really held in its reputed esteem. Certainly, the present method of quoting prices is deceptive. A car costs a good deal more than the persuasive figures in the advertisement. It is a long, expensive journey from F. O. B. to A. F. D. Many a prospect's enthusiasm, it may be surmised, fades into indecision and finally flickers out when the whole burdensome delivery price is announced.

Anyhow, this experiment in automobile merchandising will be watched with interest. It should be remarked, however, that this is not the original attempt. It was tried before, some years ago, in the local field, and subsequently abandoned. But the time was the era of illusion. In the realistic present, it may work well.

O. MR. MELLON!

If Mr. Mellon and his Aluminum Trust have tears to shed, let them prepare to shed those tears now. In the State of Utah, besides Mormons and sugar beets, are vast stores of a pinkish mineral known as alunite. Alunite is rich in aluminum oxide, the base of commercial aluminum; it also contains potash, useful alike for fertilizer and high explosives. According to Richard H. Tingley, writing in the American Mercury, Utah is asking Mr. Roosevelt to devote the power plants at Muscle Shoals to the treatment of alunite.

Aluminum is now produced from bauxite, much of which must be imported. Mr. Tingley says it can be produced more cheaply from alunite; likewise, that it would be less expensive to extract potash from alunite than to import it from Germany. When treating alunite for aluminum oxide, potash comes out as a by-product at practically no extra cost, and vice versa. Besides, alunite contains gold and silver. And, once again, if alunite were on hand at Muscle Shoals, that great plant could be transformed in a few hours to its original purpose, the making of explosives.

Of course, Mr. Mellon knows about Utah's alunite; but up to the present his Aluminum Trust has been successful in throttling alunite competition, just as it has been successful in evading the anti-trust laws. It may be different now. So, if Mr. Roosevelt and the Tennessee Valley Authority have any surplus power at Muscle Shoals, a long-distance telephone call will bring alunite by the trainload.

A PRESIDENT'S BIRTHDAY PARTY.

It would be difficult to imagine a more graceful popular celebration of President Roosevelt's birthday than through the 5000 and more local balls and luncheons which will be held next Tuesday for the benefit of the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation. There are more than 300,000 crippled children in the United States and at least that many crippled adults. A large number of these now handicapped individuals need only proper treatment to become useful citizens, and it is toward this goal that the foundation at Warm Springs seeks to play a leading part, as the President said in his address at the dedication of its new administration building last November.

If Warm Springs were ever a local institution, it is one no longer. Mr. Roosevelt's use of it in his gallant fight against infantile paralysis has made it a health center of national notice, a distinction it also has in its own right, since its patients are from every state in the Union. Money raised for establishing physical reclamation at Warm Springs on a permanent endowed basis will go to one of the most humane of causes.

JAPAN ALSO RISES.

China's Wandering Sons Return

Thousands of Chinese, who once made a living abroad as laborers, merchants, café owners and laundry men, now are forced by depression to return home, complicating their country's employment problem; formerly, they came back with wealth, but present groups are poor; Government seeks to find work for these able citizens.

By David C. H. Lu, Yenching University, Peiping, China.

ALTHOUGH unemployment has never been so important a problem in China as in the United States and European countries, the Chinese Government today is facing a serious situation—in addition to the civil wars, the Japanese aggression and the floods—created by the return of thousands of Chinese "Overseas," who have been forced to come back to this country in the last year or two, as a result of the world-wide depression.

No accurate figures have been obtained as to the numbers that have already returned. It is estimated by Government officials that approximately 40,000 have come back from the four corners of the world in the last two years. Between 5000 and 8000 Chinese merchants, waiters, laundry men and farmers have returned to China from the United States since the Wall Street crash. Only a year ago, there were some 20,000 of this number, who are small shopkeepers, farmers and unskilled laborers, have been forced to leave, owing to the new discriminatory business regulations adopted by the Mexican authorities. During the last 12 months, 27 shiploads of Chinese Overseas from Mexico have arrived in China.

In Norway, new business regulations have made it impossible for the handful of Chinese merchants to compete with the Norwegians. Most of the Chinese have been forced to give up their business and return home. Each steamer coming from the Federated Malay States, French Indo-China, Siam, Burma and the Philippine Islands brings back thousands of jobless Chinese laborers.

The term, "Chinese Overseas," is synonymous with wealth, for many of these Chinese have gone abroad and brought fortunes back with them. Most of these Overseas, particularly those from the United States, have been away for 20 or 30 years, some even 40 or 50. They are mostly from the villages, a hardworking and honest group, hoping to go abroad to make a fortune when they are young and to return and retire when they are old. Not a few have crossed the Pacific several times to hold their sacred reunions with their families. In many cases, a laundry man returns home to get a bride for his son or a husband for his daughter, and to distribute some of his money to poorer relatives. But each time he does not remain in China. A year or so later finds him back in the "Golden Mountain" (United States) seeking further wealth.

But the depression has made it impossible for the Chinese to seek their fortunes anywhere. The two leading Chinese "industries" in America—laundries and chop suey restaurants—have felt the pinch of hard times. Like many Americans, these restaurant owners, waiters, cooks and laundry men have waited patiently for that long-promised "prosperity around the corner" to come back. But continued business failures and unemployment have made it impossible for them to wait longer. Those who have returned to China this time have come back to stay.

It is true that many of these Overseas have some savings from their long years of hard labor abroad. However, this money will soon be exhausted. The Government must take measures to solve this problem, or soon these Overseas will be swelling the ranks of the poor and jobless of the country. One old Overseas, who lived in America for 40 years, predicts that the days are numbered for the once-popular Chinese chop suey restaurants and laundries in the United States. He says they have been the victims of the cheap lunch counters, cafeterias and automats and big machine laundries in the larger American cities, but he also blames the Chinese for their failure to keep pace with the ever-changing fads in America.

While the depression has changed many habits, bringing on newer styles and cheaper restaurants, the chop suey restaurants have remained the same as they were 10 or 15 years ago. Chinese laundry men are still wandering around the streets on foot, just as their fathers and grandfathers did, while big trucks from the American laundries are gradually taking away their trade. With the decline of these two "industries," the grocery stores and other firms in the Chinatowns, which depend on them for their business, have also been seriously affected.

Lack of a chance even to work for a meal has sent hundreds of Chinese unskilled laborers in the Straits Settlement back in the same condition they started out—peniless.

Thus, the former one-way current of the Overseas going abroad is now being turned back China-ward. Most of these Chinese workers would prefer staying in China to going abroad—provided they can find work—because of the race discriminations in the different countries and because they are away from their families for so many years.

These Overseas are "China's most patriotic citizens." They have given much to help build a new and better China. Dr. Sun Yat-sen, "father of the Chinese Republic," admitted that, had it not been for the financial support of the Overseas, the revolution of 1911 would not have succeeded. All through the period of the Japanese invasion of Manchuria and the bombardment of Shanghai, the Overseas contributed millions of dollars to defend their country. In flood and famine relief work, in village improvements and other constructive projects, in their own villages and in the country, they have given liberally.

But few if any of the returned Overseas hope to make a living in China. Still fewer are those who return to invest their savings in industrial, agricultural or commercial enterprises, because of unsettled conditions, Communism, banditry, civil war and lack of security. Previously, those returning have been old men with savings, but now they are young men with little funds.

These Overseas, with their experience abroad, are in general progressive and willing to work if they are given an opportunity. The Overseas Affairs Committee of the Chinese Government has drafted measures to give not only immediate relief but to provide some more permanent solution to aid the unfortunate group from abroad who are "China's most loyal citizens."

A NOBLE EXPERIMENT.

From the Boston Globe.
If somebody had not preferred experiment to experience, who now would eat an oyster?

Arkansas and the Bankers

John T. Flynn in the New Republic.

THOSE who think the Securities Act is somewhat too exacting would do well to consider the experience of the trusting souls who bought the bonds of the Krueger and Insull companies, but the bonds of the sovereign State of Arkansas. After all, it is to be supposed that buyers of bonds accept with some assurance the statements of fact made by reputable bankers when selling the bonds.

Arkansas issued two sets of bonds. One of these was put out in 1929, the other in the following year. Arkansas is mainly an agricultural State, and no one is under any misapprehension, now at least, as to the state of agriculture in those two years. When the first issue of $28,000,000 was offered to the public, the bankers—Halsey, Stuart & Co.—declared, in the circular describing the bonds, that the actual estimated value of Arkansas real estate was $12,944,326. These were 1928 figures. The actual official assessed valuation was given as about half this sum.

Then came the crash of 1929. Of course, now we know it was a crash. In 1930, the population was being assured by Mr. Hoover that it was just a little readjustment and that the storm had blown over. Productive business had gone down, and so had almost all other kinds of business. But these unpleasant facts were not reported too conspicuously. What were reported were the glowing forecasts of all sorts of boosters.

In this year, 1930, Halsey, Stuart & Co. managed another issue of bonds for the State of Arkansas—$18,000,000 worth, for highway purposes. Once again their circular described the great values in Arkansas. This new circular now set out the actual value of Arkansas wealth. Now, however, it was put down at three billion dollars, or more than twice what it had been in 1928. The actual official assessment was set down at $1,248,649,700.

Was this true or not? Its truth or falsity was a matter of grave concern to prospective investors. Perhaps it was true. But at least the United States Department of Commerce did not agree with it. In that year, the Statistical Abstract gave the assessed value of Arkansas as just about half the figure used by the bankers.

Bond buyers all over the country bought these bonds. Now the bonds are in default, and the State of Arkansas is struggling with the problem.

Are bankers and other persons responsible for issuing securities to be permitted to make statements like this? The Securities Act, at least in the case of corporate securities, undertakes to hold bankers, directors and officials responsible for statements of fact, like this, which they may make in order to sell their securities. What possible objection can there be to that?

This is the act that Wall Street is now straining every nerve to amend. The amendment they propose are designed to emasculate the act. Will they succeed?

PROGRESS OF LABOR.

From the Boston Globe.
GAINING the history of the labor movement in the last 100 years, the Bureau of Labor Statistics, Department of Labor, finds: Skilled workers a century ago were paid $6.75 to $10.50 per week, with hours from "sunrise to sunset."

The DAILY MERRY GO ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and I

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.
WHILE the country and Congress have been abed with the problem of domestic recovery, Roosevelt has found time to be much concerned with an entirely different problem—the possibility of war in the Far East. Although it does not get into the newspapers, he has discussed this problem frequently with his closest advisers. To one of them he recently expressed the fear that war might actually come after the ice breaks up at Vladivostok next spring.

This was the strategy disclosed in the Japanese war plans seized by the Russians. But no one has taken them seriously until recently. Within the last two months, however, the State Department has opened its files to the Russians and vice versa, and the exchange of information has made some of the diplomatic experts pull long faces. Fully alive to the seriousness of the situation, Roosevelt's strategy is twofold. First, he is giving every possible support to Russia in order to discourage a Japanese attack. Second, he is building up the fleet. It is to convince the American public of the importance of a strong navy that he is bringing the entire fleet back from the Pacific for a presidential review in the Hudson.

Senate Hoarder.

THE bitterness with which a handful of Senators have opposed Roosevelt's monetary program at times has tended to obscure the basic support of the Senate majority. Because he once served as Secretary of the Treasury, Senator Glass of Virginia has taken the devaluation of the dollar more to heart than anyone.

Meeting Glass in the cloakroom one day, Senator Wheeler of Montana said:

"Carter, I hear you're running the President's monetary policy now."

"Senator," sputtered the fiery Virginian, "I resent that. That is the greatest insult I ever had put upon me. The greatest insult I ever had put upon me."

"Do you know what I told Morgenthau?" he continued, his face crimson. "Do you know what I told him? I told a handful of gold certificates and waved them under his nose. And I said: 'Arrest me if you dare! Arrest me! Put me in prison if you dare!'"

"But he didn't dare."

Nerve Wracking.

THE chaos in inner Tammany circles is beginning to get on the nerves of the Wigwag's House delegation. Facing highly uncertain political facts in this year's Congressional elections, the "boys" are becoming panicky.

A friend of Brooklyn's Tammanyite Representative John T. Delaney was telling him the other day of a recent visit he made to one of New York's insane asylums. One of the most pathetic spectacles he saw, the friend related, was a powerfully built man who spent hours each day standing in one spot, going through the motions of a baseball pitcher.

"It was terribly sad, and yet, in a way, funny," the friend said. "There he was, with nothing in his hand, yet winding up and throwing his arm for all he was worth. The keeper told me the fellow suffered from a delusion that he was a big league pitcher."

Congressman Delaney mused for a few moments, then remarked quizzically:

"Applications will be received at the Federal Reserve Banks and branches and at the Treasury Department, Washington. Banking institutions generally will handle applications for subscribers but only the Federal Reserve Banks and the Treasury Department are authorized to act as official agencies."

Condition of Application. "Applications, unless made by an incorporated bank or trust company or by a responsible and recognized dealer in Government securities, must be accompanied by payment in full or by payment of 10 per cent of the amount of notes or certificates applied for."

The Treasury notes will be issued in bearer form and denominations of $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000 and $100,000. They will have three interest coupons attached payable March 15, Sept. 15 and March 15, 1935.

The certificates will be issued also in bearer form, and in the same denominations except that they will begin at $500. Two interest coupons will be attached, one payable March 15 and the other Sept. 15.

Wall Street Bankers Look for Heavy Over-Subscription.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—A heavy over-subscription for the $1,000,000,000 in United States Treasury obligations is expected in Wall Street banking circles.

The $500,000,000 issue of Treasury notes was smaller than the one-year issue of last Dec. 15, and the interest rate was more attractive. The Dec. 15 issue bore a rate of 2 1/2 per cent.

The second part of the new financing was considered attractive in view of the short term money market, where four-to-six-months funds have been drawing 1 1/2 per cent. The fact that the Treasury offered new certificates at the upper level of this range was interpreted as indicating that no effort was being made to force the securities.

WHY HOSPITALS USE
A LIQUID LAXATIVE

The dose can be measured to the drop, and the action thus controlled. Pills and tablets containing drugs of violent action are harder on the bowels, and frequently habit-forming.

Hospitals and doctors have always used liquid laxatives. And the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. Do you know why?

A properly prepared liquid laxative brings a perfect movement. There is no discomfort at the time and no weakness after. You don't have to take "a double dose" a day or two later.

The unwise use of strong cathartics may often do more harm than good.

Can Constipation
be safely relieved?

"Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" say thousands who have followed this sensible medical advice: 1. Select a good liquid laxative. 2. Take the dose you find suited to your system. 3. Gradually reduce the dose until the bowels are moving regularly without aid.

Why not try it? Some pill or tablet may be more convenient to carry. But there is no "convenience" in any cathartic taken so frequently that you must carry it wherever you go!

How to Choose a Laxative

In buying any laxative, read the label. If it contains doubtful drugs, don't take it. If you don't know anything about a preparation, ask some physician about it. The temporary relief you get from a synthetic,

LOSS THROUGH 26 LOCAL
POSTAGE RATE $17,000,000

Senator Says Private Delivery of Mail Hurts; Free Mail Totals $14,816,414.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The Post Office Department figures it lost about $17,000,000 by reducing local first class mail to two cents and that $60,000,000 more will be lost in the coming fiscal year if the inter-city three-cent rate is not maintained.

"We were hoping it (the two-cent city rate) would result in a stepping up of the volume, but the reports which we have received indicated that we have not had that increase in volume," said Senator O'Mahoney (Dem., Wyo.), testifying before the House Appropriations Committee in his former role of Assistant Postmaster-General. "The truth of the matter is that the Post Office Department may have lost business which it will be difficult to get back, by reason of the generous conditions as well as by reason of the policy of some of the larger companies in delivering their own mail."

Members of Congress could take the case to the Supreme Court, but O'Mahoney said, Government departments as a whole escape paying $14,816,414 annually because of free postage.

INHERITANCE TAX $11,204
ON MRS. HEITKAMP'S ESTATE

Appraiser Fixes State Levy on Net Valuation of Property at $439,147.

A State inheritance tax of $11,204 has been assessed against the estate of Mrs. Helen H. Heitkamp by an inheritance tax appraiser who filed his report today. The appraisal was made by Henry A. Baker, who found the gross value of the property to be $473,639. The assessment is levied on a net valuation of $439,147, certain deductions having been allowed.

Mrs. Heitkamp, who died Sept. 19, was the widow of B. Joseph Heitkamp. She lived at 3720 Utah place. Under her will she bequeathed $10,000 each to her daughter, Mrs. Emily M. Rogers, and three sons, Joseph J., Edward and Charles E. Heitkamp, and the residue of her property to two other daughters, the Misses Lena E. and Hildegard Heitkamp, and another son, Eugene A. Heitkamp. The interest of the daughters who are residuary legatees is placed by the appraiser at $133,370 each and of their brother Eugene at $128,370.

ROOSEVELTS AT COSTUME BALL

HOME MADE FROM ABANDONED CISTERN

WIFE OF CUBA'S PRESIDENT

Had There Been No Roosevelt.
The Elephants and Big Boy.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(Copyright, 1934.)
WASHINGTON reports that the President will ask Congress for an emergency appropriation to carry the Civil Works Administration, Civilian Conservation Corps and direct Federal relief. He hopes to "taper off the civil works program and wind it up in May."

Every Keeley cure and sanatorium for drug addiction will tell you that "tapering off" is difficult, uncertain work, but if, as announced, the President is "determined to keep the amount within the limits announced in his message to Congress," he will do it. His hope is that in a short time 4,000,000 men now on the Government payroll will "find normal, outdoor work."

You may sympathize with President Roosevelt for one reason. He will never be able to learn on this earth, although the Judgment day may reveal it to him, just how much he has done for the United States. He can never tell what would have happened if he had not appeared upon the scene, taking action immediately, scattering jobs and money, setting precedent aside, ignoring highly organized finance that, in all sincerity, thinks itself the only divinely chosen trustee and manager of the United States Government.

You never can tell how human beings will respond under given circumstances. Ferrero, in his thick volume on Caesar, tells of a great new "circus" for gladiator and wild beast fights, opened in Rome. Unhappy elephants, hunted to their death, horribly wounded, uttered such piteous cries that the crowd of degenerate Romans, deeply touched, would have stopped the brutality could it have done so. Ferrero remarks that the same crowd drew exquisite delight from the dying agonies of a human gladiator. The sight and sound of huge elephants, trumpeting, whimpering and groaning in agony were new and the brutal crowd almost shed tears.

Bob Brady, nicknamed "Big Boy," desperado, and frequent jail breaker, escaped for the last time with three fellow-convicts. Cornered by the Sheriff, with a posse of National Guardsmen and others heavily armed, "Big Boy" shouted: "Come on, boys, let's fight!" drew a sawed-off shotgun from under his coat, and went at the 40 men while his three friends threw up their hands. "Big Boy" is dead, full of bullets. The public is glad, and that ends him.

If in "No Man's Land," "Big Boy" with only three comrades, had dashed at 40 well-armed Germans, crying: "Let's fight!" he would be one of a million minor heroes. It all depends on the motive.

Russia and Japan still talk of trouble. Russia loudly, Japan quietly. The Japanese Emperor, which means his military advisers, alone can declare war. Nobody speaks for the Emperor until the time has come to act.

This country hopes for no war, but if war should come, the United States might learn valuable lessons about future wars. We should see in that war tens of thousands gassed, cities destroyed from the clouds, inhabitants sent rushing into the country to escape gas in the streets, as once, in wartime, country inhabitants rushed to cities for protection. Russian fire bombs would destroy tens of thousands of the highly inflammable Japanese dwellings.

Many disagreeable things would be learned in such a war.

JAPAN SEEKING SETTLEMENT
WITH U. S. ON NAVAL ISSUES

Foreign Minister Tells Parliament He is "Communicating With American Government."

TOKIO, Jan. 24.—Foreign Minister Koki Hirota told Parliament today he was "communicating with the American Government" in an effort to facilitate a friendly solution of "difficult problems likely to arise one or two years hence."

He referred to naval issues expected to come to a head in 1935 and 1936, when the naval limitation treaty expires.

Replying to questions, he said he hoped eventually to agree with Soviet Russia on removal of military establishments from both sides of the Siberian-Manchukuo border.

3 Priests Go on Trial in Munich.
MUNICH, Jan. 24.—Heavily guarded by police, three Catholic priests went on trial today charged with spreading atrocity stories concerning conditions in Germany. The defendants, Fathers Emil Muhler, Oscar Thaler and Hans Soklacher, were brought here from a concentration camp.

Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt, on left, and Miss Grace Roosevelt photographed in Oriental attire worn at the Beaux Arts ball in New York City.

Michael Norton, 68 years old, an unemployed laborer, and shelter he has built for himself on a deserted farm near Highway 66 and La Cade Station road, St. Louis County. Inside are a stove, bed and bookshelves.

HE IS HER PET EVEN NOW

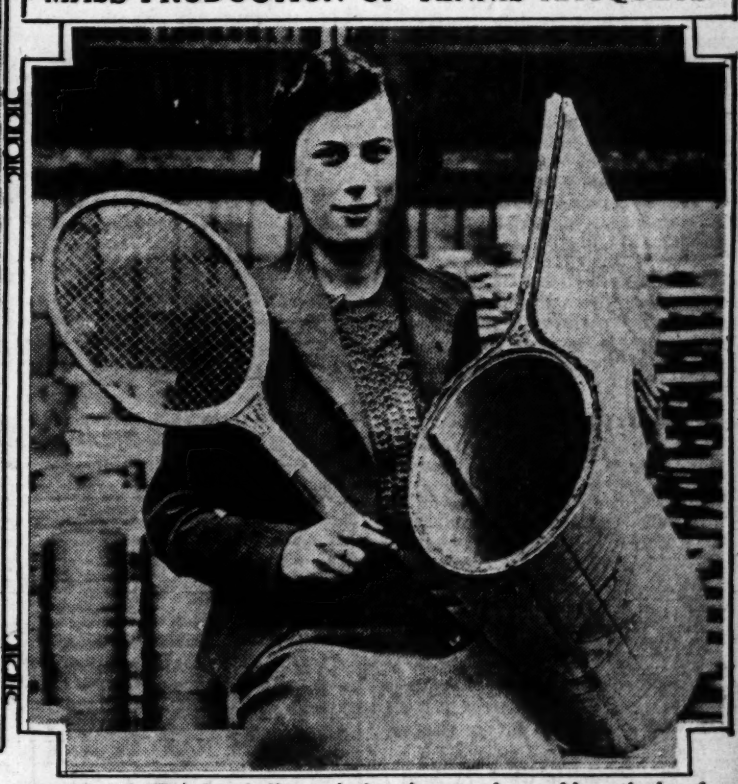

Mabel Starke, animal trainer, and 250-pound tiger, Rajah, which she helped to rear from the time he was a cub. She herself weighs but 100 pounds, but still likes to frolic with huge jungle beast.

Senora Mendieta, whose husband has been recognized by the Washington Government as legal head of the island republic.

The Dietetic Treatment of Urinary Infections

One of the earliest theories offered to explain man's recovery from infectious diseases was the exhaustion hypothesis of Pasteur. He maintained that the germs of the infectious disease disappeared when in the recovered patient the food on which they thrived became exhausted.

This simple explanation was soon disproved, for germs are not like cattle which, having exhausted a grazing ground, move to new fields. However, recent experimental work in the treatment of certain diseases shows that it is possible to overcome bacterial infections by rendering the atmosphere in which they live injurious to their development.

Such a demonstration is seen in the dietetic treatment of infections of the bladder and urinary tract. The diet so employed is called ketogenic. The name is derived from certain types of acids which the diet produces in the body.

It was observed some time ago that a diet rich in fats and poor in starches produces within the human body a group of so-called fatty acids. These fatty acids are called ketones or ketonic bodies.

It was shown independently that such germs as the colon bacilli multiply rapidly in normal urine but are quickly destroyed when the urine contains ketone bodies.

Putting two and two together, scientists set themselves to the deliberate task of producing in those suffering from bacterial infections of the urinary tract, disturbances in metabolism which give rise to ketone bodies.

This they achieved by feeding the sufferers on diets which are relatively rich in fats but poor in bread, sugar and flour containing foods.

Reports on the results of this method of treatment have been encouraging. It should be observed, however, that the treatment is effective only in the infections which are caused by colon bacilli and a few other bacteria which are found in the colon.

DANDRUFF Removed Overnight

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This remedy is entirely safe. To do this, just get some plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring, using enough to moisten the scalp and rubbing it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely remove every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustreous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It won't cost you more than thirty-five cents (35c). This simple remedy entirely satisfies.

Pillow Top Patterns Advice From Martha Carr

IF YOU ASK MY OPINION IS THERE A CRISIS IN FAMILY LIFE?

by MARTHA CARR

My Dear Mrs. Carr:
AM 22 years old (old enough to know better) and have been dating one boy rather often in the last five months. Two weeks before Christmas I found I simply did not care about him and, as he was being serious, I told him we had better break up. He took it awfully hard and, finally, told me he wanted me to do him one favor, that was, keep my date with him for New Year's Eve, which we had for a month. I kept the date.

Coming home I had a terrible time. He said it would kill him not to see me again and actually wept. It seemed so horrible, but I agreed to my point, although I really agreed that he should, for a while, continue bringing me home from work. But now he calls for me in the evening—and I have told him it can't go on.

He gets very melancholy and threatens he will become a drunkard (he drinks some, but not too much) and "go to the dogs." One day he actually had a gun along when he called for me. I saw it in the seat of his car and told him I would not go with him, and took the bus home; but he called up and was rubbing, saying he hadn't wanted to frighten me, but took the gun along in case life became unbearable. He has promised he will not let his life, but asked me to let him off from the promise.

Mrs. Carr, this boy is a good boy. I think he likes to be dramatic. I received a handsome gift from him Christmas, which I have been trying to make him take back. It is too large to mail and I can do nothing about it. This boy says he will never go with anyone else and never marry. That he will throw his job and start wandering if I quit him.

Please don't say I am a silly child. We are both desperate and do not blame myself so much, because when I started going with him, I warned him I was awfully sick. He knows I have been going out with others all along.

DESPERATE.
You probably struck the right note when you said the boy liked to be dramatic; more than that, he probably specializes in melodrama. Tell him to stop reading wrong kind of books and going to see too many of the blood and thunder movies. His greatest need right now, as I see it, is good common sense and—to stop drinking and perhaps not to be thought of much. Some sort of casual reminder, such as a card or book or marked magazine, might be all right to send him "sometime." But of course, not hearing from you, if he is eager to know more and to see you again, he will make some excuse to communicate with you.

My dear Mrs. Carr:
ANY request appear in your column, but I believe I have a new one. It is: where can I sell a three-legged chicken? It is a Rhode Island Red rooster, hatched last August. He is a beauty and shows exhibits freckles might give a good price for it, or even a zoo. But I do not know where to find the addresses. ESTHER S.

You would better advertise this in the "For Sale" column on the Want Ad section of the newspaper.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
We have been publishing a high school paper for the past three years. It has been very popular at our school and others. We are a rather large circulation. Could you suggest a good magazine in which we could find suitable jokes for our humor column? THE "SNOOP" STAFF.

The shops and libraries are running over with witticisms and humor and so-called humor in modern periodicals. And it would not hurt you at all occasionally to publish a saying or two from Mark Twain and other writers of humor which is charming and not complicated either with sarcasm or vulgarity. Many of the college humorists, I notice, seem to feel that their jokes must be tinged with the latter quality in order to be funny. Just why they do not realize that this is the lowest order of wit, and that it makes their publications seem hard put for brains.

We humor, one cannot see. A suggestive joke must have a brilliant touch and an irresistible wit to carry it out of the nit-wit class—made so common and exploited to such nauseating lengths by the movies and cheaper grade of pulp magazines.

If you would like to give your humor column a reputation for originality try selecting humor with "emergency" and rapid fire appeal to our risibles—without indecency.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
AM just wondering if you could answer a question for me. My husband is in a sanitarium and has been there for two years. I get very lonely, and hate to ask my children ways to be taking me out and yet do not enjoy going alone. I love my husband and always will, but I wonder if it would hurt to go out in a while with a girl who will love me. A. O. XX.

There is no reason why you shouldn't go out with friends or a group and have some diversion. But, if you are asking whether or not it would be all right to go out with some man, often, to a girl, I must tell you that you will be yourself in a position to be criticized and perhaps misunderstood. If, however, repeated attentions from some man will make the tongues wag and you cannot do anything to prevent it. Probably you have enough women friends and some men friends who would be glad to make up a group.

Dear Martha Carr:
THE other day, I had occasion to introduce my husband's sister who is 11 years old. I was asked if she were my sister and I replied that she was my sister-in-law. The person looked funny and said, "Why, surely she isn't married."

I married her brother and I know I am her sister-in-law; what should I have said? MRS. G. E.

Just what you did say. Of course, she is your sister-in-law, whether married or single.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
CHRISTMAS week, I visited, for the first time, my brother in another state. While there he introduced me to many of his friends. One of these was a very nice, to me and incidentally, very handsome. He asked me to write to him sometime when I returned home. Of course I realized he was attractive partly because he was my brother's friend. But having been there almost two weeks, I really feel that he wanted to hear from me. Should I write? I'm a teacher, 25 years old, and perhaps should not be too large to mail and I can do nothing about it. This boy says he will never go with anyone else and never marry. That he will throw his job and start wandering if I quit him.

IS THERE A CRISIS IN FAMILY LIFE?

Rapidity of Change Affects Stability of Our Institutions
---Will We Be Able to Put Our Houses in Order or Must Government Step In?

By Mrs. Alexander S. Langsdorf

Illustration by George Convey

THE question, "Is there a crisis in family life?" is of profound interest to those who see in the family an institution worth preserving. The family is in the process of change, but, since the family has always been affected by social conditions, there should be nothing alarming in the fact that change in family relationships occur at the present time. There is this difference, however, between the present and the past: at no previous time in history has there been such rapidity of change. Whether this is bringing about a crisis that seriously affects the future of family life is the crux of the question that confronts us.

Many who are frightened at the thought that so sacred an institution as marriage should be threatened in any way cry out for the preservation of the old order; others, again, hold no brief for the "old good days" would hasten the process of change. They want to see the family make a better adjustment to the conditions brought about by the industrial revolution.

What evidences are there that the future of the family is dark and threatening, and what rays of light can bring comfort to those of us who want to believe that a better type of family will emerge from the present rather chaotic and confusing condition in which the family now finds itself? Will the American family be able to put its house in order, or must we have a central government controlling our personal lives to the extent now being done in Russia, Germany and Italy?

Let us view the family historically for a few minutes in order to better understand the roots from which our family life has sprung. The early Puritans brought with them to this country definite conceptions of family life which were rigidly enforced. These conceptions were based on the old patriarchal idea of the autocracy of the father whose will dominated the home, and an idea of sex that grew up in the Christian church. Sex was a factor to be reckoned with and necessary for producing children especially to serve God, but continence was the ideal state and any illusions to sex were indecent outside of the home. In a democracy the individual demands the right of free choice in the selection of a mate, and thus there grew up a romantic attitude toward the marriage relationship.

Confusion between the puritanical ideal of the indissolubility of marriage and sexual restraint and the democratic ideal of freedom of choice in family life is of profound interest to those who see in the family an institution worth preserving. The family is in the process of change, but, since the family has always been affected by social conditions, there should be nothing alarming in the fact that change in family relationships occur at the present time. There is this difference, however, between the present and the past: at no previous time in history has there been such rapidity of change. Let us view the family historically for a few minutes in order to better understand the roots from which our family life has sprung. The early Puritans brought with them to this country definite conceptions of family life which were rigidly enforced. These conceptions were based on the old patriarchal idea of the autocracy of the father whose will dominated the home, and an idea of sex that grew up in the Christian church. Sex was a factor to be reckoned with and necessary for producing children especially to serve God, but continence was the ideal state and any illusions to sex were indecent outside of the home. In a democracy the individual demands the right of free choice in the selection of a mate, and thus there grew up a romantic attitude toward the marriage relationship.

Mrs. Alexander S. Langsdorf, who wrote the accompanying article, is well known in St. Louis as a pioneer in social service work. She became interested in child study and parental education some years ago and has been a leader in that field. She is in great demand as a lecturer at colleges and civic organizations. Mrs. Langsdorf recently wrote a series of articles for the Post-Dispatch on the efficient management of the home.

choice and romance are at the basis of much of the conflict in which we now find ourselves. Neither conception faces life in America in the year 1934. Feminism, the right of women to work, outside the confines of the home, and extra-marital relationships, and almost daily the idea of accepting sex as natural and desirable, plus a growing emphasis on the right of the child to freedom in the development of his personality and against the puritanical conception of the family. On the other hand, increasing divorce and its concomitant evils prove that ideals of romance and individualism based on the conception that personal happiness is the only desirable goal do not deal with the realities of life. The realities of life demand other qualities than the emotional quality of love and passion. Passion is too often, fleeting and when it goes, love has a way of flying out of the window. Then the romantic lover throws away the old and seeks the new forgetting that responsibilities heavier than his own emotional needs must be taken into consideration.

THE trouble lies in the fact that the old social patterns do not work and no new ones have yet been evolved. Because of this condition we see bizarre practices advocated that place their emphasis on sex rather than on more enduring qualities. We have trial marriages, and free love, and extra-marital relationships, and almost daily we read of marriages contracted one week and annulled the next, and speedy divorce seems to be the way out of all difficulties, big and small. The old social controls of conduct have weakened: the church, family traditions, etc.

The effect of all of this experimentation is to give increasing instability to the family. Some recent statistics in St. Louis show that there were 5100 marriages last year and 1819 were broken by divorce. The 1819 by no means accounts for all of those families disrupted in spirit who did not seek the severance of their bonds in the law courts, nor those disrupted by desertion which is known as "the poor man's divorce." Alarming as these figures are, they actually show a decline of 48 per cent from 1928, which may mean that for various reasons the "depression" has been good for family life. At any rate the prosperity of 1928 shows that the economic factor is not the most important factor in the breakdown of family life.

NOW just what can be done about it, and is the future as dark as the foregoing would lead one to think? Along with factors pointing to family disintegration are movements at the present time working for family integration. We have the Mental Hygiene movement, mentioned before, that places its emphasis on the prevention of mental breakdown; we have the Social Hygiene Movement that places its emphasis on sex education and the prevention of venereal disease; we have the Parent Education Movement that is interested in everything that concerns the child, physically, mentally, emotionally, socially and morally; and we have the churches that would stem the tide of growing intolerance and are eager to find new values applicable to present social conditions. In the course of time, let us hope that the time is not far distant, all of this education will strongly influence the younger generation in their thinking. They will seek marriage as the best arrangement for the satisfaction of their desires and need for love and affection, and at the same time they will face the facts of sex openly with a consequent better understanding between the sexes. When there is greater mutual satisfaction in the love relationship, monogamous marriage will be more successful. The young man of the future will not worry about the future but will find that real companionship exists when there is tolerance of each other's interests as well as mutual interests. Education for parenthood will lead to greater co-operation between parents, and greater understanding and sympathy based on the needs of the growing child. Let us also hope that social planning on the part of our government will, by giving economic security to all, eliminate the fear of unemployment and dependency in old age.

The crisis in family life can only be averted by facing the facts as they actually exist. Human nature is capable of adjusting itself to all sorts of conditions in a remarkable way. Given the necessary enlightenment and the determination to make things better, the younger generation will, I believe, create a family life in which the individual will find greater sources of happiness than ever before because he will be conscious that his happiness is closely bound up with the happiness and welfare of the family group, and when once he is conscious of that goal it will be a step for him to realize that the good of the family is closely tied up with the good of society as a whole. It is this good that must be his ultimate goal.

down of family life. Perhaps in the last analysis the crisis in family life is really a crisis in character. To face life and its problems we need to find new values and strengthen the old ones, courage to face difficulties, greater personal integrity, tolerance, and so on.

The greatest sufferer in the disorganized family is the child. Child Guidance Clinics have accumulated most convincing evidence of the effect of unhappiness in home relationships upon the growing child. Especially those of sensitive disposition. When there is serious tension between the parents, they are apt to overlook the fundamental need of the child for a feeling of emotional security. Emotional security means that the child not only feels that he is loved and wanted by both parents but he also feels secure in the affectional bond between the parents. Constant domestic discord reacts against this feeling of security, and in some cases the child sets up anti-social compensations as the records in our juvenile courts will show. Often the cause of a mental breakdown in maturity can be traced back to the adult's early childhood experiences. Because of this we have the Mental Hygiene Movement placing its emphasis on the early years of the child as the period in which future mental breakdowns can be prevented if there exists healthy family relationships. A speaker at a recent meeting of the Missouri Society for Mental Hygiene pointed out that in some states the rate of increase of mental disease was greater than the rate of increase in the number of births. Considering the cost of taking care of the mentally diseased, if for no other reason, the situation must be accepted as serious and something must be done about it.

NOW just what can be done about it, and is the future as dark as the foregoing would lead one to think? Along with factors pointing to family disintegration are movements at the present time working for family integration. We have the Mental Hygiene movement, mentioned before, that places its emphasis on the prevention of mental breakdown; we have the Social Hygiene Movement that places its emphasis on sex education and the prevention of venereal disease; we have the Parent Education Movement that is interested in everything that concerns the child, physically, mentally, emotionally, socially and morally; and we have the churches that would stem the tide of growing intolerance and are eager to find new values applicable to present social conditions. ## GOOD TASTE

By EMILY POST

Proprieties.

Dear Mrs. Post:
If a hostess includes ash trays and cigarettes on her dining table, may guests assume that they may smoke at any time during the service of dinner? She herself never smokes and so there is no way to judge from her example.

Answer: I would say yes. But I can't say yes to those young people who light their own cigarettes with their own lighters as soon as they are seated at a table without a "May I?" to a hostess who does NOT put cigarettes on her table.

EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: (1) When after-dinner coffee is to be served in the living room, is it ever necessary to serve coffee with cream in large cups during the meal? (2) Will the advent of wines during dinner in any way make it impossible to serve coffee at table?

Answer: (1) If you care about etiquette, coffee in large cups should never be served during dinner. At supper, breakfast coffee is proper. Of course, there are many local customs such as pie for breakfast, saucers for vegetables, salad left on table for dessert—which are all unknown in fashionable houses. But if Brighthelm or Motor City like these customs, there is no sensible reason why they should change them—unless they choose. One should, I think, know what is correct and then decide for oneself whether convention adds or detracts from one's own idea of beauty or convenience or comfort, and accept or refuse it accordingly. (2) Sometimes a single cherry glass is included at supper at which tea or coffee or chocolate is also served. But otherwise wine glasses and cups and saucers do not belong on the same table.

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I do not agree, ever, about leaving a party. He wants to stay on and on and never minds the loss of sleep, while I cannot go to sleep and then be fit for business next day. Is it unheard of for a wife to excuse herself and leave, and let her husband stay?

Answer: To say that you have to work early in the morning is an entirely valid excuse for going home. You can perfectly well make this excuse, and tell your husband to stay—if willing that he shall. (Copyright, 1934.)

The Lone WOLF'S Son

—By—
LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

CHAPTER TWENTY.
"It is your belief that this Etienne Carrel is an understrapper of our smoking-room friends?"

"I'd bet money on it. It things hadn't turned out like they did," Crane pursued, studiously tamping his pipe again—to show that Lanyard was at liberty to look as he liked; he wasn't watching. "I'd've guessed they sent him in on you to put the fear of Satan in your innocent heart—figurin' maybe you didn't realize what an iron-clad combination you were buckin'."

On this, Crane paused with a frank grin for Lanyard, as much as to say: "Well, that's that. I've let you see I'm nobody's fool, but well-disposed. But if you don't think it's time to make use of me as a friend, if you prefer to keep your counsel yet a while, there's no harm done and something gained; we understand each other." To which Lanyard returned a smile of entire comprehension.

"And I'm keepin' you up, and you don't know what for yet?"

"I am not impatient—I who never spend a minute in your company without profit. You were speaking of Mme. Boyce and her friends, intimating that you questioned their motives in making much of my son."

"They're a hard lot," Crane gravely nodded. "That little lady has never been known to do nothing for nothing. If she's pickin' up your Maurice now it's for a purpose. She's as old as they come—never been in love yet with anything but a big bank balance."

"Oh, come now! Surely a little dinner, a social evening, is no more than a polite return for service rendered."

"You'd think so; but you don't know all I know. Let me tell you there's more community of interest than people dream of between the underworld and the high streets in New York's night life. Tess Boyce wouldn't last a week—burnin' around night clubs and lookin' like Tiffany's show window, the way she does; she'd go the way Dot King went, and be found cold in bed some morning without as much as a rhinestone, if she didn't have protection, if she didn't stand in with the racketeers. Take this Lanyard mug she's so thick with; where'd he come from? Where'd he pick up his money? Who gave him his license to act like that, as if the run of folks were dirt beneath his feet, when he's trainin' all the time with Tess Boyce and her kind? If he was the heavy aristocrat he lets on, he'd rather be seen dead than in his company. What's this Sultan of Swat, or whatever his name is, taggin' along with the likes of Tess for? I'd admire to tell you."

"Please do."

"When I know for sure, I will. Just now, I'm here to tell you something I'm sure about. After you'd left that party flat this evening—"

"You saw me with them? But I looked for you before I came below and couldn't find out."

"Yeah; not bel' me when I don't want to be part of my art. After you cleared out, somebody suggested a game of contract. They took a table in the smokin' room and kept the stakes high and the liquor flowin'." The Pasha of Pout is a nut about cards; Iquith plays a mean hand; and Tess Boyce is no slouch; but the coin they let that kid of yours win was something sinful. The session broke up about half an hour ago; Iquith blew off to bed and so did His Royal Nibs—and pretty sure he was, too, bel' the big loss. Tess took your boy for a walk on deck—said the night was simply too divine for anybody to turn in so early."

"Awhile later I accidentally passed behind them while they were holding the rail down in a dark stretch of the boat-deck. If the young one's left ear wasn't blistered, it's a miracle—her red head was so near it. I heard her say: 'You're too smart big boy, to let him put that line of boloney over on you. You know as well as I do, all this stuff about reformation is just elocution. Then the wind got in my pipe and sparks caught her eye, and she looked around and saw me. So I ambled on and minded my own business. All the same, she'd seen me. So I came on down to wise you before she could broadcast the tip-off. By tomorrow mornin' they'll be spottin' me every minute—or else I'm crazy; I won't feel safe in passin' the time o' day with you above a whisper.'"

"But why?" Lanyard remonstrated. "What conceivable and has Mademoiselle Boyce to gain by poisoning Maurice's mind against me?"

"It might make a guess, but if it wasn't good, she could use me for criminal slander. Wait till I know what this Freddy Iquith's right name is and what His Tan Highness is doing so far from home, and makin' whoopee with her—and maybe I'll tell you. But if it was my boy, I know what I'd do. Crane pursued, rising and giving Lanyard's hand a hard squeeze: "I'd horn right into that line up, edge Maurice out, and keep both ends open to catch their signals. Good-night—and don't forget to lock the door behind me."

Lanyard lay wakeful till nearly dawn, mulling over the new questions which Crane's call had opened, the new aspects it lent old ones, and all to no profit; if he dropped off at length on no more comfortable finding than that he and his son both were meshed in a web of intrigue that would tax his every resource to break, yet must be rent lest it strangle his hopes.

A Columnist's Fee's Jots Down a Few Notes
Dear W. Your "Night Press Rate" stunt made for difficult reading, setting it a la telegram style. The text served—but too tough on the eyes. Either have it set in 6 pt. caps or regular 8 pt. roman upper and lower case. Several called—wondered if you were "stuck" for stuff—as it seemed an easy way to fill. Running it in 8 pt. caps forced out five paragraphs. Magazine Goldstein said the letters you sent him are receiving att'n. Rudy Vallee phoned. Said the front page stories on his arrival about him being easy to the girls at the station, were not true. A Dept. of Justice agent phoned. Said when you give praise on the radio to their captures to please say the agents were Dept. of Justice men, not Secret Service sleuths, as was the case in that Central Park West raid.

In the new Gloria Stuart movie the song "I Like It That Way" has been barred from both major broadcasting stations, so Con Conrad is preparing a new lyric. For the air, that is. . . . Chas. Lucas is again the owner of the Maison Royale. The NFA has asked a biscuit company to omit the word "wine" from their wine biscuits, as they do not contain wine. The word "oyster" must also be omitted as the oyster crackers do not contain oysters. . . . And the word "graham" ditto as they contain whole wheat and not graham flour. . . . The Germain concert in Boston one Sunday afternoon did $480. . . . Ely Culbertson, who with H. C. was eliminated from the Bridge tournament at the Pierre, came to the NBC to introduce the winners. They were allowed 15 minutes and Culbertson spoke for over 14 talking about his system. . . . When Mr. Bernstein, the winner, was introduced (with only 10 seconds to talk), he said: "And I use the one-over-one which won't. . . . They all left the studios fighting like chorus girls—such people!"

Gordon Andrews, leader at the Ha-Ha, phones his mother to Wilkes-Barre, Pa., every 6 a. m., before he retires, and often asks her to phone him from there to be sure he wakes up. His devotion to his mother is only one of the nice things about him. . . . Ben Marden's new show at the Palais Royal opens tonight. . . . Edith Murray, who was up high a few years ago, and who had to take a chorus girl's job so desperate was she, is getting a break, again. On the air. . . . Arlen and Kohler have done a new show for Eth Waters at the Cotton Club and Jim Lunceford's band there is plenty peppy. . . . Frances Stutz of the Casino de Paris ensemble is the slugging among them—men or women, it doesn't matter. If any of them make cracks about her Rubenoff—bott! . . . The girl with the swell figure on the Beaux Arts program is Dorothy McHugh, said to be the town's best figure model. She wants a job in a cafe show. . . . Maxine Rickard's mansion, which the late Mrs. put $200,000 into at Miami Beach, can be had for 50 Cts. . . . Ruth Hale certainly keeps her promises. . . . The file of columns is out everywhere—can't dig up your exact hint about their divorce of about six weeks ago.

That Tony Drexel Biddle guy who got on the front pages with Peter Arno on the coast is playing the lead role in "Young Eagle" which is about Boy Scouts, dear me. . . . Lee Posner phoned in these Harlem bits of slang you asked for—"Satchel Mouth" is an earbender, who tunes in on others (hello skates) "Rug Cutters" are cheap skates who go to night clubs to dance and spend no money. . . . "Beat to my socks" means broke. . . . "Mr. Griffin" means a cheap customer, the phrase is "Mr. Griffin he's stiffin'". . . . "Freebie" is one on the cuff, who gets no check (a columnist).

Some of the news photos are sore because Mrs. Einstein, the Professor's fraulein, wanted $500 from them for an exclusive picture of the Prof., who played the fiddle at the Lewishom home for the benefit of his charities. . . . Einstein sends all of it to the German Jewish refugees, tell the boys not to be mad. . . . Repeat isn't two months old yet—but the word "speakeasy" is obsolete already. . . . Gordon Sinclair of the Toronto Star will be in for an interview. Wash your neck with this new book: "Cannibal Quest" just came out, plenty of "Things I Never Knew Till Now" in it for you to steal.—Your Girl Friday, such as to satisfy us that your new school of hold-up operatives seldom stick at murder?"

"And give up swanking it over all the women in Southampton next week? That's how much use you are!"

"SORRY." If Lanyard wouldn't trouble to look anything but entertained, he did offer to abandon the topic: "Have you any chance seen anything of my child this morning?"

"Let's see," said the dis-gruntled lady shortly answered, "with Fennio. Taking exercise!" she snorted. "Just before you came up, they were pouncing the deck together like a pair of monarchs—so many laps to the mile, so many miles to the hour! What they're up to now I haven't any idea. Anyway," she resumed, declining to be put off her grievance, "I've already witnessed my bank to have somebody meet me on the dock with the money."

"May one, without the least desire to seem officious, venture to hope Madame dispatched at least one other message?"

"What about? What for?"

"In point of common prudence—for the protection of the emeralds."

Fay made blank eyes. "But has it not occurred to you, Madame, that—in view of the two attempts to steal them already—it would be well to provide against possible further attempts, which can now be made only after they have passed through the customs?"

"Don't be silly. The emeralds won't be out of my possession a single instant after we land. My husband's going to meet me; one of our own cars will take us to our townhouse for the night; the next day we'll motor straight out to Southampton. And as you say, I've had two warnings. Anybody that thinks he can get those stones away from me now will have to do it over my dead body."

"And do you seriously suppose he would hesitate to? Surely the police news in your newspapers is

What Are You Building?

GOT UP blue. Was wondering what the heck. Began looking through some not true journals. Ran across this story, and it yanked me out of a tail-spin! Maybe it will do the same for you.

"A poet once strolling near the outskirts of a large city came upon a stone quarry. For a time he watched the operations in the big hole—the blasting, the removal of stone out of the pit, finally the actual cutting of the stone. After a time, the poet engaged the workmen in conversation. He asked them the same question, 'What are you doing?' The first said, 'Earning $5 a day.' The second replied, 'Cutting stone.' However, the third paused before he answered, and then, with a sparkle in his eye, proudly stated that he was building a cathedral."

"WHAT AM I BUILDING? WHAT'S IT ALL ABOUT? WHERE IS ALL THIS WORK AND WORRY GETTING ME?"

Each day you ask these questions with increasing bewilderment; sometimes, with sick anger and despair. And you're not alone. Everywhere other people are wondering the same thing about their lives.

Walk down the street. Look into the eyes you pass. Deep in those eyes, under the laughter or the excitement, back of the curiosity or sadness, lies the shadow of that bewildered.

Life's so short! A few years, and then we're over. And we want, so desperately, to make our mark before it is too late. Each one of us wanting to make his or her mark. But what chance? Life's so crowded; so hurried! How much can any one man or woman, or the work of any one man or woman, matter?

"WHAT AM I BUILDING? AM I BUILDING ANYTHING? DO I AMOUNT TO ANYTHING? IS ANYTHING I DO WORTH WHILE?"

Standing over your dishpan—bending over your filing cabinet—plodding down, through the mud and mist, to the south pasture—fighting your way through the subway crowd, to your shabby niche in some office building, those questions pick and peck like malicious ghosts.

And where's the answer? You look for it in vain in sink or card file, hay rack or ledger. Yet there, in those monotonous chores, lies the record of your life. The record of your life.

"That's all I amount to!" you say drearily to yourself, "after all my fine dreams, this is where I've landed. Wasting my life over jobs that don't mean a thing to me or anyone else."

That's what you're saying and thinking, isn't it? And each time you say it you feel a little duller, a little more discouraged and something in you cries out more bitterly at the humiliation and futility of it all. Just as something in those stone-cutters cried out against the senselessness of spending precious life hacking at stone.

But one man saw the truth. His back ached, as theirs ached. He, too, was blinded by grime and sweat. He, too, must have longed to throw down his tiresome tools and be off to those great, free adventures he had dreamed of as a boy. Yet, in spite of all that, he saw—beyond the dreariness, drudgery and discouragement; above the darkness of a quarry pit—through the towering glory which his work was making possible.

HE WAS NOT JUST CUTTING STONE. HE WAS BUILDING A CATHEDRAL! HE WAS NOT MERELY HEAVING ROCK OUT OF A MOUNTAIN SIDE. HE WAS RELEASING BEAUTY AND WONDER AND ECSTASY IN THE HEARTS OF MEN! HE WAS CLEARING A WAY FOR GOD!

And because he saw that truth, "the Truth had set him free"—as it always does. It had set him free from resentment and bewilderment, drudgery and discouragement, and had filled him with pride and contentment and a growing sense of power.

His job was as monotonous as the job of the other workers—BUT LIFE HAD MEANING, BECAUSE

MY STOCKINGS WEAR SO LONG WITH LUX I TRIED IT FOR YOUR SOCKS —

I WONDERED WHY MY TOES WEREN'T POKING THROUGH ALL THE TIME

Cut down costly Holes in Socks

Women everywhere are doing it this way:

Who likes to darn men's socks? Nobody does—and so women themselves discovered a way to end this constant drudgery.

"We've proved that Lux washing cuts down stocking runs," they say—"so now we're trying this gentle way of washing our husbands' socks. We find it's amazing how much longer they wear!" Lux cuts down holes in socks for the same reason that it cuts down stocking runs. It's made to keep the threads strong, "live," elastic, so each thread can stand a lot of strain without breaking. Two minutes a day with Lux saves you money as well as tire-some mending!

Lux for socks as well as stockings

—Saves elasticity, removes perspiration odor, doubles wear

The Lux Way to cut down holes in men's socks

Wash after each wearing. Perspiration left in socks tends to rot the threads. Then they break easily—holes start.

Use lukewarm Lux suds. Squeeze suds gently through the socks, rinse well with water the same temperature. Hot water weakens threads, makes colors run.

Avoid ordinary soaps with harmful alkali, and cake-soap rubbing. These weaken elasticity, make the threads lifelines, apt to break under strain. Lux has no harmful alkali. Safe in water, safe in Lux!

Be sure to Lux wool socks as well as silk ones, to prevent shrinking and fading! The Lux way keeps socks perfect in fit.

The Last Round-Up

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER.

IMPOSSIBLE to believe that the Washington lobbyists are going to whisper their resignations.

Those lads have been around so long we figured they went with the lease.

Men may come and men may go. Lobbyists did neither. They were there every morning like sunflowers in Kansas.

Now, they must fold their tents and silently steal away. We would shed a tear. But the soup is salty enough.

No more will they grab the legislator by both lapels and do the giant swing. No more will their big bankrolls for expenses make a lump in the pillow.

It's just as well. The lads were starting to stuff mattresses.

SUIT FILED TO DISBAR ALDERMAN BRINKMAN

Grievance Committee of Bar Charges Him With Unlawfully Keeping $8500 as Guardian and Executor.

"PURELY A FAMILY AFFAIR," HE SAYS

Petition Recites Attorney, in Control of Assets of Anna Mary Birkenkemper, Was Ousted by Probate Court Last Year.

Suit to disbar August M. Brinkman, an attorney and member of the Board of Aldermen, was filed in Circuit Court today by the Committee on Grievances of the Bar Association of St. Louis, which charges he appropriated to his own use $8500 received as guardian and executor in a Probate Court estate. The petition alleges that Brinkman "has unlawfully retained his client's money and has been guilty of malpractice, fraud, deceit and misdeemeanor in his professional capacity."

The alleged misappropriation, according to the petition, occurred between March 13, 1929, when he was appointed guardian of the person and estate of Anna Mary Birkenkemper, adjudged of unsound mind, and Aug. 21, 1933, when he was removed as executor of her estate after her death.

Brinkman has not filed a settlement after his removal as executor as ordered by Probate Court. The petition says, nor has he paid any part of the $8500 to his successor or to the Birkenkemper heirs.

Named Executor in 1931.

Shortly after Miss Birkenkemper died, March 1931, Brinkman became executor of her estate, it is stated in the petition, giving himself as guardian a receipt for assets valued at $9164 less expenditures on behalf of the ward. The assets consisted principally of promissory notes secured by deeds of trust on real estate.

The notes and deeds were converted into $8000 cash by a real estate company handling the property, the suit continues, and the cash was turned over to Brinkman. He received an additional sum of $500 cash as an asset of the estate, the petition says, making the total of $8500.

Alderman Brinkman, when seen by a Post-Dispatch reporter, said the complaint involved "a purely family affair," and that he would answer the Bar Association's charge at the proper time. "Miss Birkenkemper was my great-aunt," he said, "and the only persons interested in the estate are my mother and other relatives."

Since 1927 Brinkman, a Republican, has been a member of the Board of Aldermen from the Fourteenth Ward. At the time of his election he was a member of the Republican City Committee. His office is at 4 North Eighth street, and he resides at 9505 Magnolia avenue. He is 42 years old.

Action By Grievance Committee.

The petition was filed on behalf of the grievance committee by its attorney, George F. Wise. Members of the committee are Thomas F. McDonald, chairman; Wayne Ely, George M. Hagee, Grover C. Sibley, Howard G. Cook and Samuel H. Liberman.

Their petition describes the Bar Association as "an incorporated body of lawyers organized for the purpose, among other things, of fostering professional ideals of honor and justice and of investigating and appropriately correcting instances of malpractice or professional misconduct." In filing it, they say, they are acting individually and personally and in discharge of their duties as members of the association and its committee.

The disbarment suit was assigned to Circuit Judge Ryan and made returnable Feb. 15.

GOLD FOUND IN METEORITE

Scientist Analyzes Specimen He Bought for Dollar.

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 23.—A 65-pound meteorite which Harvey N. Nininger of the Colorado Museum of Natural History bought from a Melrose (N. M.) farmer for a dollar, has been found to contain gold, the scientist said yesterday.

"It's the first time," Nininger said, "that gold has ever been found in a meteorite, although some from meteorites previously were discovered to contain platinum. Its principal significance, perhaps, is its indication that meteorites have the same origin as the earth."
